King To Resign Premiership Nov. 15

Gives Up Plans To Quit Office Armistice Day

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King will tender his resignation to the Governor-General next Monday, Nov. 15, he announced today.

Mr. King made the historic statement in a letter read at a luncheon meeting opening the annual three-day meeting of the Dominion executive council of the Canadian Legion. Six cabinet ministers were present as the letter was read by Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter, Dominion President of the Legion.

Pact May Mean Some Canadians Train Overseas

OTTAWA (CP)—Adoption of the North Atlantic Security Pact may mean that some Canadian troops will train in foreign lands.

Informed sources here noted today that Canadian soldiers already are stationed in Britain and the United States and said this arrangement might be extended to the other countries of the north Atlantic defensive alliance once it is formed. The other countries are France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

They said it was "too early" yet to indicate how many soldiers might go abroad under some such arrangement.

They also were unable to indicate what the financial cost of the Atlantic union would be to Canada. Some reports in New York have indicated it may cost the U.S. $2,000,000,000.

NO GREAT CHANGE
It was not expected here that the Atlantic union would mean any "drastic" change in Canada's defence plans.

Government sources indicated they expected the pact will be ready for presentation to the next session of Parliament and that it will be generally approved by all parties.

Sinclair Not To Run Again For Commons

GIBSON'S LANDING, B.C. (CP)—James Sinclair, Liberal member of Parliament for North Vancouver since 1940, plans to retire from federal politics when Parliament prorogues next June.

He said here other plans he has made "preclude politics for some time."

Mr. Sinclair was first elected to the Commons in 1940 and re-elected in 1945.

He said the riding needs a Powell River district representative in the House.

"The district is too big and too important to be represented by a carpet-bagger," he said.

U.N. Votes To Make Balkan Bloc At Peace With Greece

PARIS (AP)—The United Nations political committee approved overwhelmingly today a resolution demanding that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia settle their Balkan dispute with Greece.

The 58-member committee of the General Assembly voted 48 to 6 for the resolution as a whole.

The six eastern European countries spearheaded by Russia voted against the resolution, sponsored by Britain, the United States, France and China. Four countries were absent or not voting.

The resolution now goes to the General Assembly, where a two-thirds majority vote is necessary for adoption.

Today the committee operated with a 10-minute time limit on all speeches.

The Prime Minister said he had hoped to associate his resignation with Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, and announce his retirement from the prime ministership after placing the government's wreath at the base of the National War Memorial here.

However, the ill-health which confined him to his home at Laurier House had made this impossible.

"I had hoped," his letter read, "that my last official act as Prime Minister of Canada might be in the nature of a silent tribute to the memory of those who gave their lives in the cause of freedom. I deeply regret having to forego this cherished hope."

THREE IN CONFERENCE
After conferring with His Excellency the Governor-General and with Mr. St. Laurent, I have decided to continue in office for the remainder of the present week, and to tender my resignation as Prime Minister to His Excellency on Monday next, Nov. 15.

"While I much regret not being able to convey this word in person to yourself (Col. Baxter) and others who may be present at today's luncheon, I am happy to have the privilege, through the Legion, of making known to my fellow-countrymen the day on which I shall seek to be relieved of the responsibilities of office."

Attending the luncheon were Justice Minister St. Laurent, who will become Prime Minister of Canada in five days, and five other cabinet ministers, all former servicemen themselves; Labor Minister Mitchell, State Secretary Gibson, Finance Minister Abbott, Defence Minister Claxton and Veterans' Minister Gregg, V.C.

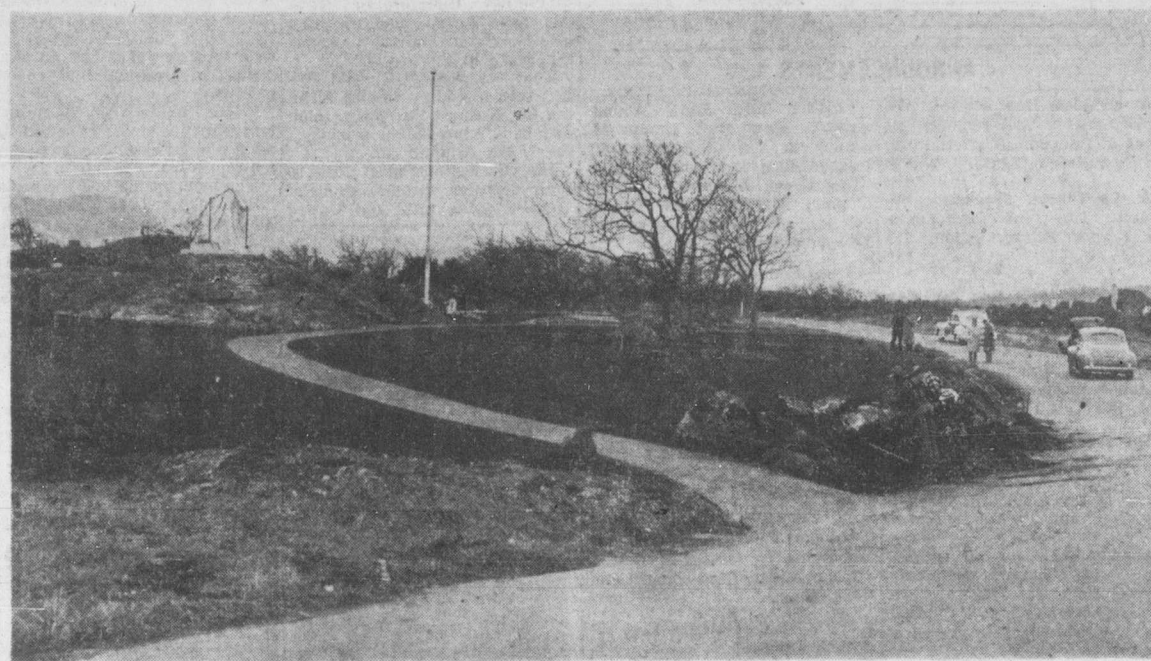

Four Rifles Stolen

Capt. A. Clements reported to city police yesterday that four Mark 4 rifles had been stolen from Bay Street Armory on Monday. He said the rifle room door had been forced to gain entry.

No Times Thursday

Remembrance Day will be a holiday for this newspaper. The next regular editions will be put in the hands of readers Friday.

Oak Bay War Memorial To Be Unveiled Armistice Day

Official unveiling of the Oak Bay War Memorial by Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks will take place Remembrance Day afternoon at 3. A general view of the site on Beach Drive in Uplands Park is shown above, with the still-covered memorial sculptured by ex-R.C.A.F. member James E. Saul, formerly of Toronto, on its base of natural rock. Representatives of the three services, veterans' groups, scouts, guides and others will take part in the ceremony honoring the war dead, including the 97 Oak Bay men and women whose names appear on the granite memorial.

Tug Safely Beached After Grim Night Grounded On Reef

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 130-foot tug Active has been safely beached in Owen Bay after grounding Tuesday night on a reef in the Hole-in-the-Wall Rapids, about 115-miles northwest of here.

The Coastal Towing Company of Vancouver, operators of the tug, report she began to fill quickly after she had struck the reef in the narrow passage linking Lewis Channel with Discovery Passage.

Capt. Ange Sonum, skipper of the Active, ordered seven of her crew members into lifeboats. He and Chief Engineer Robert Lang remained aboard. Assisted by nearby smaller craft, they managed to get the tug to Owen Bay, where they beached her.

The Straits Towing and Salvage Company's salvage vessel Salvor is en route to the scene from Vancouver.

Meanwhile, 50 sections of logs which the Active was towing have been picked up by the Coastal Towing Company's tug Kyak No. 2.

The Active, valued at about $200,000, is one of the oldest and best-known tugs operating along the British Columbia coast.

Ottawa To Stop Scrap Shipments

VANCOUVER (CP)—Further movements of scrap metal east from British Columbia will be thwarted by the federal government, the Vancouver Sun reported today.

Commenting on an earlier report that Vancouver rolling mills were being threatened with a shortage of scrap metal here, the paper reported federal authorities said they would protect the infant B.C. steel industry. The authorities were quoted saying any B.C. steel man could get B.C. scrap metal "pretty well on his own terms."

Langford Artist Gets Third Place

SEATTLE (AP)—An oil painting by John Knoff, Langford, B.C., was the public's third choice in a poll of paintings shown by northwest artists, the Seattle Art Museum announced today. Paintings exhibited by Richard Kirsten, Seattle, and Arne R. Jensen, Everett, won first and second prizes.

Starvation Threatens; Chinese Millions Riot

NANKING (AP)—Emergency flights of U.S. dependents left China's rioting capital today as starvation stalked ahead of advancing Communists.

First to go were expectant mothers from the United States advisory group. They were flown in American military planes to Tsingtao, U.S. far eastern naval base. Most of the 500 Nanking dependents will go aboard the navy hospital ship Repose.

THROGS WANDER ABOUT

From Shanghai northward the situation worsened. Millions milled in cities, towns, villages and over the countryside.

Food riots swept Shanghai and Nanking. Shops, trucks and carts were looted by the hungry. Shopkeepers were clubbed.

Workers demanded their wages in rice. Government railway employees went on strike when they got none.

Reds Converge 170 Miles Away

Three Communist forces converged on Suchow, government base 170 air miles north of Nanking. The Reds came from the north, east and west. Fighting was reported in the Suchow defence perimeter.

Six Nationalist regiments, possibly totaling 10,000 men, are reported to have deserted to the Reds around Suchow.

Two Observers Of U.N. Arrested As They Watch Israelis Attack

HAIFA, Israel (AP)—Two United Nations observers were arrested by Israeli military police Tuesday on the Negev front while watching "a full-scale Jewish attack on Egyptian positions," a U.N. spokesman said today.

The Jewish attack on Iraq Suweid was launched early Tuesday, the spokesman said.

Iraq Suweid, in the disputed southern desert, is about 15 miles north of Gaza, from which Arab civilians were reported fleeing Tuesday.

DEMAND FROM RUSSIA

PARIS (AP)—Russia called on the Security Council in secret session today to order negotiations of the Chiang Kai-shek government appeared to be crumbling in the wild melee along coastal China. The national gold yuan plummeted downward.

Alarmed European nationals, confronted with anti-foreign feeling in many quarters, sought means of escaping.

There was a hint here that a U.S. warship from Tsingtao might be sent up the Yangtze to protect foreigners and speed evacuation.

SHIP ON WAY

Gen. MacArthur in Tokyo had at least one army transport on its way to Shanghai to evacuate U.S. citizens there. Two more were reported ready to sail from Japanese ports.

Not all of the estimated 7,000 Americans in China were leaving. Only dependents, tourists and some business men have given up. In all about 1,000 women and children will be moved first.

Americans were ordered off Nanking streets tonight.

DEMAND FROM RUSSIA

PARIS (AP)—Russia called on the Security Council in secret session today to order negotiations between Jews and Arabs for peace in Palestine.

Soviet delegate Jakob Malik presented the Russian proposal when the council met to resume discussion of the peace plan submitted yesterday by the acting mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche. Bunche's plan would have converted the broken truce into an armistice.

OFFERED AS AMENDMENT

The Russian proposal was submitted as an amendment to the Bunche plan. An official United States spokesman said France had undertaken to sponsor the Bunche plan.

The council spent little time on Malik's amendment. It will be debated, however, at the next session.

LATEST Hurricane Warning

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane warnings were ordered hoisted from Cape Lookout to Cape Hatteras on the North Carolina coast today as a small and unusually late tropical hurricane swirled toward the mainland with 75 miles an hour winds.

The Miami Weather Bureau warned that "every precaution should be taken on the North Carolina Capes."

Held In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Two Vancouver women, arrested Tuesday night in a downtown Toronto hotel, have been charged with illegal possession of narcotics. Police said they found Arlene Lasalle, 23, and Brenda Lasalle, 21, in possession of heroin and equipment used in the forbidden drug traffic.

Many Charges Read

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly an hour was spent in court today reading 67 charges of forgery, uttering and false pretenses against Hugh McIntosh, 30, of Brandon, Man., and Raymond Jackson, 16, of Montreal. McIntosh pleaded guilty to 20 charges and Jackson pleaded guilty to 11.

Plane On Mercy Flight To Arctic

EDMONTON (CP)—A Canadian Pacific Airlines plane today was engaged in a mercy flight to a tiny Arctic settlement where an oblate priest is reported to be seriously ill.

The plane took off from Edmonton airport Tuesday to pick up the priest at Arctic Red River, 1,400 air miles north of Edmonton, and fly him to the hospital at Akilavik, 75 air miles farther north.

For Smog Sufferers

DONORA, Pa. (AP)—Twenty residents of this mill town where 20 persons died and hundreds were made ill recently in a smothering mixture of smoke and fog will leave Thursday for a week's free convalescence in the south. All expenses are being borne by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington, N.C., and the Chamber of Commerce of Wrightsville Beach, N.C.

Responsibility For Any Mishap Placed On Reds

BERLIN (AP)—Russia threatened tonight to force down any Allied plane which wanders out of the air corridors to this blockaded city and the Greater Berlin area.

A Soviet letter announced the proposed action.

The United States replied: "Full and complete responsibility will rest on the shoulders of the Soviet authorities should any injury be sustained by any of our pilots, or should any damage occur to our planes from any Soviet action taken in this connection."

The Russian letter cited a long list of alleged flights by aircraft outside the air corridors to Berlin and said that "in order to prevent and to preclude such type of illegal flights of foreign aircraft over the territory of the Soviet zone of occupation" the Russian command would force down all aircraft appearing over the Soviet zone "outside the limits of the air corridors and the regions of Greater Berlin."

Red Press Plays Up Hints Truman To Visit Stalin

By HEDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—The Moscow press gave heavy play today to a Tass dispatch from Washington quoting an American newspaper as saying President Truman may come to Russia for a personal talk with Prime Minister Stalin.

The fact that this item was published here at all is not without significance. The newspapers made no comment on the report, but it is hardly likely it would have been published if the editors had not looked upon it as a serious, worthwhile piece.

The Soviet news agency dispatch said the Washington Times Herald printed the report. (The dispatch may have referred to a syndicated column, Tris Coffin's "Daybook," published in the Times Herald. It said Monday President Truman wanted a conference with world leaders on peace and might even go to Moscow.)

AT WASHINGTON?

The dispatch said that "although no definite decision has been reached, Truman presumes he can meet Stalin at his place (presumably Washington) instead of going to Moscow."

"However," it added, "if Stalin does not leave the Soviet Union, Truman is filled with such a determination to put into effect his program of peace that possibly he will himself go to Moscow."

Armed Robberies In Vancouver Total Seven In Five Days

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's first major outbreak of hold-ups in some months is still unchecked. Thieves staged two more raids Tuesday night.

They were the sixth and seventh armed hold-ups in five days.

Robbed at gunpoint were Erwin Hignett, suburban grocer, and George Broughton.

Hignett was held up by two men who walked into his store and threatened "Stand back, we mean business." They escaped with $60.

Broughton, second overnight victim, said two men who had offered him a ride home suddenly produced a gun, took $20 from him and threw him out of the car. He had met the two men in a beer parlor.

Snow In Calgary

CALGARY (CP)—Snow fell in Calgary for about two hours today, disappearing as the sky began to clear. It was the first real snowfall here this fall.

U.S. Defence Chief Visits Military Head In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Forrestal, civilian head of the United States armed forces, was due in Europe today.

There, it was announced, he will talk with American officials, including Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U.S. commander in Germany.

Forrestal's visit to Clay assumed special significance in the light of Clay's conference Monday with Viscount Montgomery. The British field marshal is chairman of the military committee of the western European alliance.

The formal announcement of Forrestal's trip said he would "discuss problems affecting the national military establishment" with American officials in Europe.

Looming large is the question of how much and what kind of arms the United States can supply the western European countries to help them guard against aggression.

DRAFTING BUDGETS

Forrestal still is in the process of preparing new budget estimates for the army, navy and air force. The needs of the United States armed forces in Europe, plus whatever military help finally might be decided for Europe undoubtedly will be reflected in Forrestal's request to the White House and Congress for money.

Forrestal's aides here insisted the European trip was caused by no urgent situation or crisis. They said he had wanted to go for some time and that his schedule now permitted a short visit abroad.

France Opposes Handing Of Heavy Industry To Germans

PARIS (AP)—France protested today against a plan to turn over bizonal coal, iron and steel industries to German ownership.

A foreign office communiqué said Foreign Minister Robert Schuman made the protest to the United States and British ambassadors in Paris.

The British and American military governments in Frankfurt announced the Germans would be given back ownership of the industries "in the near future."

The decision, the protest said, is "contrary to the position constantly affirmed by the French government and recently upheld by the National Assembly," the main legislative body of the French parliament.

Under the proposed plan, the military governors would still retain a certain control of powers. New German companies would be established to operate the companies.

Britain Charges Albania With Acts Considered Murder

THE HAGUE (CP)—Britain Tuesday charged Albania with committed acts which would be considered murder under ordinary law in mining two British destroyers and killing 40 seamen two years ago.

Opening the civil case in the International Court of Justice, Sir Harley Shawcross, British Attorney-General said:

"It is still not impossible that one day the individuals who committed the crime will be brought to justice."

Britain is expected to ask $950,000 ($3,800,000) reparations. The ships were mined Oct. 22, 1946, in the Corfu Channel off Albania while exercising the rights of innocent passage, Sir Hartley said. He accused Albania of laying a minefield and not notifying other powers.

At this morning's session, Sir Hartley said the mining was an incident which, 50 years ago, would undoubtedly have led to immediate naval action of the gravest kind against Albania.

The meet will be open to teams from the Pacific northwest and invitations have been sent to all schools and track organizations in B.C., Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Two races are scheduled, a junior event for runners under 19 years and at least 16, over two miles and an open event over four miles.

Teams will consist of four to seven men but only the first four finishers will count in determining team standings.

The race will start from Varsity Stadium at 1.

Attlee Tells Why Britain Approves Atlantic Treaty

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee said Monday night the troubled world situation had led Britain to approve in principle the proposed North Atlantic Treaty.

He made the statement in a speech at the annual banquet of the Lord Mayor of London. The North Atlantic pact would link the United States and Canada with the Western European Union—France, Britain, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Belgium.

"There is a good deal of unrest in various parts of the world and there are those in the world who seem to have an interest in creating trouble," he said.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO PEACE

"We have, therefore, to look to our defences so that we may make our contributions to securing peace in the world."

That was why, Attlee said, Britain took a leading part in forming the Western European Union and had "approved in principle" the North Atlantic pact.

He said Britons must look to their defences through regional security pacts until the United Nations is strong enough to ensure world peace.

Attlee said that "great as is our interest in the affairs of Europe, we have, of course, far closer ties with the peoples of the British Commonwealth and Empire."

The recent London Commonwealth conference, he said, "revealed clearly the strength of the community of purpose with which the Commonwealth is inspired."

"It was our common desire to adjust national policy to serve the needs of all, to direct each country's efforts into the channels which would most help the others."

NOT BOUND BY FEAR

The Commonwealth, he added, is "no group of satellite powers bound together by a common fear, by a common subjugation to a tyrant's yoke" but an association of free and independent nations.

"Here," he declared, "is no system of police states joined in lip-service to an ideology which none may question."

The banquet marked the installation of London's new Lord Mayor, Sir George Aylwen. All the guests were in uniform or full evening dress with decorations and many of the women wore valuable jewels with their evening gowns.

EMERGENCY FUND CHAIRMEN—Sir Ellsworth Flavelle, Bart., national chairman of the United Emergency Fund for Britain, which starts its initial, national appeal for contributions on Nov. 14, continuing until Dec. 5. All money collected will be used to make purchase of food in Canada and sent abroad for distribution among the needy in the United Kingdom by the U.E.F.B. organization abroad.

Dead Of Two Wars To Be Honored By Citizens Across Canada On Thursday

Victorians, along with other Canadians Thursday, will mark the 30th anniversary of the ending of their first major world war even as the shadows of international hostility darken the world.

On this Remembrance Day the thoughts of millions will go out to the 100,000 graves in France, Belgium, Holland, Italy, Britain, Japan, Hongkong and elsewhere that tangibly represent the national sacrifice in two conflicts.

Remembrance services in Greater Victoria include a parade to the Cenotaph at the Parliament Buildings, a parade and ceremony at the Esquimalt War Memorial, a tribute service by the Pioneer Square and the unveiling of the new Oak Bay War Memorial.

ARMISTICE BALL

The solemnity will be relaxed in the evening when the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion stages its second annual postwar Armistice Ball at the Empress Hotel.

Rev. Douglas Kendall, chaplain of the Veterans' Hospital, will conduct the service at the Cenotaph following a parade of army, navy, air force and veterans detachments across the Causeway.

The parade will form by the Post Office at 10:15 in the morning and will move off about 10:40. Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks, Rear-Admiral H. G. De Wolf, flag officer, Pacific Coast, and military and civic officials will place wreaths at the base of the Cenotaph. The former will take the salute from a saluting base at the Empress Hotel following the ceremony. The beginning and end of the two-minute silence at 11 will be marked by the firing of a gun.

SCOTS PAY TRIBUTE

Immediately after the Cenotaph ceremony the Canadian Scottish Regiment will march to Pioneer Square, Quadra Street and Burrard Avenue, where the Lieutenant-Governor will be present as tribute is paid to members of the regiment who lost their lives at Vimy Ridge in the First World War.

A detachment from Work Point Barracks, under Col. A. Perron, will participate.

At Esquimalt, all veterans are asked to parade at the Canadian Legion Hall, 622 Admirals Road, at 10:15 Thursday morning to march to the Esquimalt War Memorial.

Leading the parade will be a detachment from H.M.C.S. Naden and the Royal Canadian Navy bugle band. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police will take part in the memorial ceremony.

The Last Post and Reveille will be played by the R.C.N. bugle band, conducted by Gunner R. Short, while the hymn "Abide With Me" will be played by the Esquimalt and Saanich Boys' Band under Harry J. Bigsby.

Services will be conducted by Rev. F. E. M. Tomalin, with Dr. H. H. Creal offering prayers.

Wreaths will be placed on the memorial by Capt. (B) E. Spencer, R.C.N.; Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt and representatives of other associations.

Following the service there will be a march past the reviewing stand in front of the Municipal Hall where Capt. H. S. Raynor, R.C.N., will take the salute.

OAK BAY UNVEILING

At 3 Thursday afternoon, the Lieutenant-Governor will unveil the Oak Bay War Memorial situated on Beach Drive in Uplands Park. No traffic will be allowed on this section of the road between 2:30 and 3:30.

A gun on nearby Cattle Point will signify the start and finish of two minutes of silence and Pipe-Maj. Andrew Pollock will play the lament.

Reeve R. A. B. Wootton of Oak Bay will give the inaugural address and Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunn will dedicate the new monument prior to its unveiling.

Present will be James E. Saul, sculptor, formerly of Toronto, but now a resident here. He was stationed at Patricia Bay with the R.C.A.F. during the last war and liked Victoria so well that he settled here following his discharge. Significance of the fine granite monument he sculptured will be explained by Reeve Wootton.

The three services, veterans' organizations, navy and St. John's nurses, scouts, guides, service clubs, and parent-teacher organizations all will be represented.

B.C. Civil Servants Honor War Dead

Members of the provincial government and civil servants this afternoon in a brief ceremony in the rotunda of the Parliament Buildings here honored those civil servants who during two World Wars died in battle.

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb, acting in the absence of Premier Byron Johnson who is in the interior attending the hearings on the freight rate mountain differential, placed a wreath at the base of the plaque before scores of civil servants and widows and parents of the war dead.

Following the placing of the wreath Bishop H. E. Sexton called for one-minute silence. All lights in the rotunda were turned off except a single spotlight played on the plaque. Bishop Sexton then said a short prayer and benediction.

Sgt. Ray Gandy, 16th Canadian Scottish, then piped "The Flowers of the Forest" with Cpl. Harry M. Potts, 16th Canadian Scottish, acting as drummer. S.Sgt. B. Drysdale, R.C.E.M.E., sounded "The Last Post" and "The Reveille."

Thirty-two civil servants were killed during World War II.

Approve Plans For Enlargement Of Hall

Saanich Council, by unanimous vote at Tuesday night's meeting, approved plans submitted by the architect for enlargement of the Royal Oak Municipal Hall to ease the shortage of space for employees.

The clerk was ordered to draw up specifications and call for tenders. The enlargement calls for a 34x33-foot extension on one end of the building.

Three-Year Sentence Given War Wife Who Shot Spouse

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Jane McAllister, 25-year-old redhaired Scottish war bride, was sentenced today to three years on a manslaughter charge arising from the pistol slaying of her naval veteran husband.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven said he had taken into consideration the fact that Mrs. McAllister was in ill health following recent operations and that she was not criminally inclined. He said he could not accept the defence counsel's suggestion of a suspended sentence.

The war bride from Scotland's Clydeside town of Greenock was tried last week for murder, but the assize court jury, which returned its verdict late Saturday, reduced the charge to one of manslaughter and convicted her on the lesser charge.

John McAllister, 29-year-old former Hamilton war veteran, was fatally shot through the head while lying on a bed in the log shack he and his wife occupied near Kirkfield, 20 miles north of this Victoria County town. Mrs. McAllister was found wandering in surrounding woods at dawn next day, an old single-shot pistol clutched in her right hand.

In the witness box the young widow claimed that during the last few months of her three-year married life she was beaten, kicked and cursed by her husband, who spurned her love after an operation had made her sterile. She said the final, fatal quarrel followed an announcement by John McAllister that he intended to find love in the arms of other women.

REMEMBERS LITTLE

She said that on the Sunday night she took the pistol down from the kitchen wall to frighten her husband, not to kill him. She claimed she remembered nothing of the moment when the pistol allegedly discharged in the bedroom.

Her mother, Mrs. Emily McInerny, with a ticket provided by the "hame folk" in Scotland, flew to Canada to stand by her. But Mrs. McInerny, heartsick over the small-town gossip and the word that her own husband was ill at home, left Lindsay for Scotland eight hours before the verdict came.

"I canna help Jeannie the noo," she told friends. "All I want is na hame."

Mrs. Hodges To Talk At Election Meetings In Rossland-Trail

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Coalition member of the B.C. Legislature for Victoria, left Victoria today to open Friday's Coalition campaign for the Rossland-Trail by-election.

The by-election, which will name a successor to the late James L. Webster, will be held Nov. 29. Mrs. Hodges will speak in support of Doug Turnbull, the Coalition government candidate.

Her first address is scheduled for Friday at Fruitvale. The following day she will speak at Castlegar and at Kinnaird. With Works Minister E. C. Carson Mrs. Hodges will address meetings in Rossland Monday and in Trail Tuesday night.

Premier Byron Johnson, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb, Attorney-General and Labor Minister Gordon S. Wismer and Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres are also scheduled to take part in the campaign.

Royal Family Wants Birth Unceremonious As Possible

LONDON (AP)—The birth of Princess Elizabeth's baby expected this week-end, will be as unceremonious as Royalty can manage to make it.

But traditions that die hard in this land of long memories will see to it that the general public gets a good show of pomp and circumstance.

As the day approaches, excitement is mounting in London.

When the news is flashed to the world, Londoners from the Cockney east end to swank Mayfair can be depended upon to stage one of those mass turnouts that demonstrate the popularity of the Royal Family.

The King has tried to tone down the event. That was made clear in his unexpected decision to dispense with the "archaic custom" of having the Home Secretary come to the palace to "witness" the royal birth.

This time the King's secretary simply will telephone Home Secretary Ede, who in turn will phone the Lord Mayor of London. The Lord Mayor then will notify the Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral.

St. Paul's Dean will call out the members of the Antient Society of College Youths, an honorary group of veteran bell-ringers who will peal the bells of the great cathedral in honor of the Royal birth.

Other bells will peal from Westminster Abbey and in the cathedral towns of Canterbury and York.

Carole Landis' Estate Subject Of Lawsuit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Horace Schmida, wealthy producer husband of the late Carole Landis, today sued for half of the actress' $150,000 estate. The suit held that a will made in 1944 by Miss Landis, leaving most of her estate to her mother, is invalid. He said it was written before he married her in 1945.

Why Mrs. A. S. Dennis, Vancouver homemaker, believes in our democratic free enterprise system.

"THERE'S ONLY ONE ANSWER TO HIGH PRICES! COMPETITION AMONG BUSINESSES..." SAYS MRS. A. S. DENNIS

"In bringing up five children, I've had a lot of experience in getting the best buys on everything from cribs to cornflakes.

"I've found that competition has always given me the prices I wanted to meet my weekly budget . . . one store trying to do better than the other on price or service to get my business.

"That's why these Socialist and Communist theories don't make sense to me. If the government took control over pretty nearly everything, I'd only have one place to buy . . . no real choice of merchandise, and I know what that would mean. Higher prices and poorer service. Take it or leave it.

"No, prices will come down when businesses start to compete with each other again for our trade. That's why I believe in our democratic free enterprise system. It encourages the sort of free competition among industry that will bring prices down. It has offered me, and it will continue to offer me better value across the counter than any system of government control."

Entertaining Show Promised At Annual Armistice Day Ball

What promises to be one of the season's most colorful events will take place Thursday night when the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion stages its second annual postwar Armistice Ball at the Empress Hotel.

Veterans have been given blanket permission to wear uniforms, a floor show is scheduled, and a cold supper will be served.

Music will be supplied by Charlie Hunt's orchestra with Malvina the featured vocalist.

Grace Adams and Dudley Wickett, well-known Victoria singers, and members of Florence Clough's Dancing Academy will take part in the floor show.

The Armistice Ball was an annual affair prior to the Second World War, but was not held during war years. Last year it was revived and will be an annual affair.

Found Guilty On Rentals Charges

Lillian Savoy, owner of suites at 1983 and 1985 Fort Street, was found guilty by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today on two charges of collecting rentals in excess of fixed prices for four-room suites and bathrooms at those two addresses. She was remanded to Friday for sentence. David Sloan acted for the Crown.

The monthly meeting of the Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association will be held Friday at 8 in Prince Robert House. A discussion by members on the advantages of normal fur breeds or rabbits for meat, and fur, versus Angora rabbits for wool will take place.

ANOTHER GAIN FOR DE GAULLE

GENERAL CHARLES DE GAULLE AND his R.P.F. Party have read political encouragement into the returns of this week's elections in France, results of which have given the Rightists the lion's share of seats in the Council of the Republic. The increase in popular support for the wartime Resistance leader will no doubt be used as a further argument for the holding of a general election for the National Assembly, in which Communists now occupy a large and influential block of seats. Leftist agitation has seriously hampered French recovery by fomenting strikes and slowdowns in industry. Many believe that fear of further Communist encroachment will drive the normally middle-of-the-road French citizen into support of a strongly Rightist government in an effort to escape Moscow's domination. Herein, beyond doubt, lies General de Gaulle's current strength and the answer to this week's Council elections.

It should be understood that the Council of the Republic consists of 315 members. The election of this body is a somewhat complicated procedure and requires that 200 members shall be elected by indirect suffrage from the Departments of Metropolitan France, 14 by indirect suffrage from the Algerian departments, 51 by the Assemblies of overseas France, and 50 by the National Assembly. Eight different elections are necessary before the entire 315 members of the Council can be chosen.

At his retirement from the political field more than a year ago General de Gaulle was emphatic in his demand that there should be one Assembly only and that the executive should be clothed with a great deal more power than if there were both a Chamber of Deputies and a Council of the Republic, despite the fact that the latter body operates only in an advisory capacity and enjoys no more than the power to delay the approval of legislation endorsed and passed by the Lower Chamber. But in view of the fact that the somewhat dictatorial, albeit colorful, former leader of the French Resistance Movement has succeeded in electing so many of his followers to the Upper House, the more moderate elements in the Fourth Republic are apprehensive lest de Gaulle should succeed in swaying a sufficient body of public opinion to demand new general elections.

In other words, the fear apparently uppermost in the minds of many liberal-thinking people is that if General de Gaulle should succeed in winning a general election, he would first of all take steps to abolish, by constitutional or other means, the more or less ineffective Council of the Republic and then proceed to set up an authoritarian form of government. Such a suggestion cannot be far fetched for the simple reason that the gallant general's antipathy to Communism and the robust organization in France which is taking its orders from Moscow has become his main source of conflict. It is a matter of debate, of course, whether his justifiable detestation of the philosophy dispensed by the Kremlin is more dangerous in its political application to the domestic scene than the type of administration which he is reputed to favor and is intent on establishing. This is a moot question. Only the sequence of political events will provide the answer.

WE WERE NOT CAUGHT

OUR READERS MAY RECALL THAT one of the cardinal principles of this newspaper in the matter of political elections is to avoid prophecy. By conforming to this policy, we have not found it necessary to "eat crow."

In view of the results of the election in the United States last week, however, we are assuming that many of the "experts" of various kinds are wishing they had adopted our method. It is thus permitted, incidentally, to note with amusement the first sentence of Columnist Philpott in the Vancouver Sun's issue of Nov. 8, which reads: "We newspaper people who got caught flat-footed by the surprising Truman victory are taking it out on the pollsters."

Back in May of this year the columnist to whom we have referred said: "One of the best informed newspaper people in St. Louis, who is not personally a Wallace supporter, tells me that Henry will poll a vote the size of which will stagger the nation."

Then on last June 28 we read in the same columnist's article as follows: "I think Mr. Truman threw himself out of the presidency, and made a Democratic defeat a certainty, when he threw Henry Wallace out of the Cabinet."

On August 4 of this year the Vancouver writer suggested: "A European journalist who has just completed a tour of the United States to size up the chances in the coming election agrees with my own conclusion that Wallace will poll a much larger vote than most people think likely."

On Saturday, Oct. 30, three days before the election, we said: "Mr. Truman is predicting victory for the Democrats, while Mr. Dewey seems to be thoroughly convinced that he and his Republicans are as good as elected already." Such was the sum total of our "prophecy."

BACK TO EARTH

AFTER PYROTECHNICS WHICH HAVE been spectacular but unproductive, the City Council has apparently come back to earth on the arena question. In the last two months it has reduced some of the generalities of criticism against it to definite form. It has responded to the advice of private construction interests and asked them for a bid for completion of the undertaking. Only one legitimate tender has been received—for $195,780—and has been rejected on the grounds, as the consulting engineer put it, that it was "much too high."

Before the council decides what steps it will take to finish the project—whether it will call for fresh tenders or resume its policy of acting as contractor on its own behalf—it will receive further estimates. When they are submitted, they will be subjected to exceedingly careful scrutiny. At least two had estimates doubtless have taught the aldermen caution.

Citizens whose major concern is the completion of the job will find little value in any further name-calling or searches for a scapegoat. The task now is to get ahead with the work in the most efficient and economical manner possible. Those in authority should profit by past errors and co-operate toward the achievement of the objective in which the public is primarily interested—the provision of facilities for skating, hockey and other activities for which the arena is designed.

If the estimates, complete in detail, presented by the consulting engineer in the next few days support those submitted by the building inspector, and if there appears little hope of securing fresh tenders in the neighborhood of his figure—$133,000—the council should have ample justification for proceeding with the work itself. Certainly the alternative course of securing a contract was not made alluring by the bid that was submitted.

A NEW TREND

THE IMPORTANCE TO WORLD PEACE of the proposed Western Security Pact was emphasized yesterday in a special Ottawa dispatch to this paper which will have brought home to many readers the new trend of defence policy among the democratic countries. Negotiations for the pact, shortly to get under way, will constitute one of the most important conferences to take place since the end of the war, and will open for the participants a new departure in global security. The original concept of a North Atlantic pact, in which Canada and the United States would join with Britain, France and the Benelux countries, along with Norway, Denmark and Iceland, to strengthen their mutual defence against aggression, is now apparently being expanded to include any nation that desires to participate. In this regard, for example, it is suggested that Australia and India may wish to join, and the way will be left open for others who see the value of joint action in the face of Communist encroachment.

Although it is not believed that the signatory nations will relinquish sovereignty to the point of automatic commitment to war, the terms of the pact are expected to include a recognition that aggression against any one member nation shall be viewed as aggression against all. Each participant, as a matter of national honor, would thus be bound to provide defensive forces after appropriate parliamentary action to call the country to arms. The whole concept of Western Security, of course, consigns to a date far in the future the achievement of "One World"—but it cannot be said to destroy an ideal that has not yet been practiced. It is, rather, a recognition of the fact that the world is now divided into two, and that only joint effort will save for the West that way of life it cherishes and for which it stands.

Regional pacts, of course, are fully provided for in the United Nations Charter, although the East-West cleavage has now become so deep that the separated structures threaten to overtop the U.N. itself. The latter, without an armed force to implement its orders (although this was provided for in the original formula), can only exercise moral judgments. The minor cases of aggression that have come before the global body have not resulted in clear-cut and satisfactory decisions. A major instance could evoke even less prospect of success. But a Western Security Pact would provide the strength which now is lacking. Its presence, promising quick retribution to aggressors, would greatly reduce the possibility of aggression. The virtues of democracy, to be most effective, must be well protected. The state of the world today is not such as to make weakness, however virtuous, a good long-term risk.

STILL IMPROVING

THE CLOSE RELATION BETWEEN technological progress and markets may be seen in the new outlets that are opened for British Columbia farm and fisheries products by recent developments in railway car refrigeration. A trial run to Edmonton has shown great possibilities for a new type of freight car which, with the aid of refrigeration machinery powered by a gasoline engine, keeps its contents at a temperature of 10 degrees below freezing. The car was suggested by spokesmen for the B.C. fishing industry, and brought to reality by researchers at the Dominion Fisheries Experimental Station under the direction of Dr. N. M. Carter. The experimental trip showed that produce, including frozen fish, fruits and vegetables, reached the destination in better condition than is the case with ice and salt refrigeration. So results another aid to better living, derived from the constant effort to improve food production and distribution.

Capitol Shake-Up

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
SOME POINTS about the second Truman administration are clear already. For example, the President means to have a second New Deal if he can. But government is people, as some sage has remarked. In his second term, Truman will really stand or fall by the man he hires as his subordinates.

Very roughly speaking, this vital problem of the personnel of the new administration may be divided into two parts, foreign and domestic. The foreign part is the more important, for the peculiar reason that the campaign tensions poisoned the relations between the President and the ablest men on his present foreign and defence team.

THE WHITE HOUSE currently is a constant source of rumors that the days of Under-Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett are numbered. In a lesser degree, the same hints are given about Secretary of Defence James V. Forrestal. And even Secretary of State George C. Marshall's standing is being openly called into question.

The men disseminating these rumors are, of course, such White House advisers as David K. Niles, who have fought the Marshall-Lovett-Forrestal policies, on Palestine particularly. The sources of the rumors are suspect. Yet the peculiarly well-integrated committee of brilliant men who have directed U.S. foreign defence affairs is none the less about to be dissolved. Forrestal may stay on for a transitional period, although he desires to leave. But Lovett has long intended to get out on Jan. 20, whatever the President may wish, and the same apparently applies to Secretary Marshall. Thus replacements must be found, at least for Lovett and Marshall, and perhaps for Forrestal as well.

FOR THE State Department, Chief Justice Vinson, Averell Harriman, Dean G. Acheson, Will Clayton and Sumner Welles (whom the Zionists are pressing) are the names most often mentioned. The insiders are betting on Vinson if he will consent to leave the Supreme Court. For the Defence Department, a long list is offered—former Secretary of War Harry Woodring; Woodring's bitter enemy, former assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson, who was Democratic fund-raiser in this campaign; Secretaries of War, Navy and Air Royal, Sullivan and Symington, who are all active candidates; and the President's crony, the lame duck governor of Washington, Mon C. Wallgren. The insiders seem to have no choice among these alternatives.

The reported candidates for the State Department are all conspicuously able men, but at least two-thirds of the names on the defence department list are downright hair-raising. This in turn suggests the nature of the biggest danger now ahead.

HUMAN MEDIOCRITY has been spreading over the administration like a rather nasty fungus disease over infected skin, ever since the original Truman cabinet began to disintegrate. The question is whether mediocrity is now to be promoted to rule over the really crucial fields of policy-making. And even although the President names a Vinson, Harriman or an Acheson to the state department, the choice will not counter-balance the appointment of a Woodring or a Wallgren to the defence department.

In the field of domestic administration, the problem is approximately the same, although complicated by a political factor. The complication is that in the domestic field, none of the President's subordinates had the slightest excuse for sitting on their hands throughout the campaign. Several of them, led by the President's special crony, Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder, nevertheless held themselves rather glaringly aloof from all the awful hurly-burly. Their line was that they would write cheques but would not make speeches.

THE COMPLICATION is important, because the hand-sitters, by an understandable coincidence, also comprise most of the Truman subordinates who have consistently opposed the left-wing policies on which the President won the election. But the fact remains that when the President returned to Washington in triumph, Secretary Snyder was triumphing right next to him in the receiving line. The President's nature is to keep by him these men who are personally close, while he gladly lets such men as Lovett go. Thus the betting is that the political Laodiceans will stay on if Truman likes them, unless they prefer such prosperous private employment as the Bank of America position which Snyder would have taken if the election had gone the other way.

THERE ARE THOSE in the White House who strongly oppose this tendency, urging that if the President wants a second New Deal, he had better hire some New Dealers. For this reason men like Wilson Wyatt and Paul Porter will no doubt be brought in for such special jobs as housing and standby price control. But here again, the betting is that the general, basic character of the administration will be unchanged.

The President will decide these problems probably while he is at Key West. He may again confound the political bookmakers. But one thing at least is certain. In view of his own character and experience, the choices of men he must now make are likely to be among his biggest choices of the coming four years.

Charges Do Not Alter Facts

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

A FIRST glance at Premier Stalin's Pravda "interview" might have suggested that Mr. Stalin was reading from the wrong script. Phrases like "policy of aggression" and "policy of unleashing a new war" are usually flung at his government, and with apparent good reason. Now he was flinging them back at the west, and a lot of people got excited about it.

MORE THAN PHRASES

But he did more than toss phrases. He also charged the American and British governments with breaking agreements. One charge referred to the arrangements made in Moscow on Aug. 30 for lifting the Berlin blockade and at the same time introducing the Soviet-zone mark as Berlin's only legal currency. The other referred to, or rather hinted at, a preliminary agreement on Berlin by the U.N. Security Council members in Paris.

Both these agreements, Mr. Stalin said, were declared "null and void" by the U.S. and Britain. He said that the two governments repudiated their representatives at the Moscow meetings in August and violated the agreement because they had decided to refer the question to the Security Council. He also implied that they wrenched on the solution reached in Paris.

Those charges do not conform to the facts. The Moscow arrangement was subject to agreement by the military governors in Berlin. Marshal Sokolovsky, the Soviet commander, refused to live up to Moscow's end of the bargain outlined in the August meetings. It was only after that that the western governments announced their intention of turning the Berlin problem over to the U.N.

NOT IN RUSSIA

Dr. Juan Bramuglia of Argentina, acting president of the Security Council, said that there was never any draft decision which was agreed to by the major powers and the six "neutral" governments which were trying to write a compromise resolution.

Mr. Stalin probably knew, when he made those charges, that they could and would be refuted. But the refutations would never be published in Russia, of course. So it is reasonable to assume that the whole thing was whipped up for home consumption.

The reason why the usually aloof premier let go with this blast may have been Mr. Vishinsky's rather sorry showing at the veto session of the Council. His excuses were lame, and hinged on the technicalities of precisely when the blockade should be lifted. He gave no indication that his government really wanted an agreement or that it intended to pursue the matter further. It wasn't a performance likely to impress anybody—even the Russian people.

That may be why the Soviet dictator cast aside his role of "good old Joe" and spoke of the west as he usually does for domestic audiences. About the only difference this time was that handouts of his question-and-answer session were given to representatives of the world's press assembled in Paris.

SETTLEMENT REMOTE
We doubt that the temperature of the cold war is really much different as a result of his charges. The hope of a German settlement is remote, just as it was before. But unless the Kremlin's strategy has been revised, any change in Russian policy will probably manifest itself in actions, not in speeches.

The Food Situation Looks Better

From The Canadian Bank of Commerce Commercial Letter

CANADA has grown this year over one billion bushels of grains—mainly wheat, oats, barley and mixed grains, but including, also, peas, soybeans, flax seed, rye and corn. This large combined crop exceeds that harvested in 1947 by over 200 million bushels.

INCREASED ACREAGE

In addition, larger quantities of fodder, notably corn, as well as sugar beets and other roots, have been produced this year. These results were due partly to the increased acreages, the total planted area, about 60 million acres, being slightly greater than that of the preceding year, notwithstanding the late spring in Western Canada and serious flood conditions in some sections. The yields are all the more remarkable considering the extremely variable weather throughout the growing season.

In the early summer, drought caused severe damage in Eastern Alberta and Western Saskatchewan and threatened the entire prairies with a near crop failure. In Central and Eastern Canada drought in the late summer caused premature ripening, scalding and undersizing of tree fruits and late canning crops, dry pastures and a consequent marked reduction in the milk flow, as well as blight in roots.

Rapid progress has been made in harvesting this year's crops, particularly in Ontario and the western grain belt. Threshing is well ahead of the final harvest operations a year ago and in advance, also, of the normal time required for it.

Improved crop conditions now are favorable not only to the growers of agricultural produce in this country, but also to the Canadian public, which is now assured of increasing food supplies, and to millions of people outside Canada who still depend on her for meats, cheese, eggs and condensed milk, as well as the staple bread stuff, wheat.

LARGER SURPLUS
Not only will Canada's exportable surplus of wheat be somewhat greater in the current "wheat year" ending 31st July next, but the supply of feed grains will also be larger in most of the major live stock areas, notably Manitoba, Quebec and Ontario.

In the last-mentioned province, the largest all-round producer of meats and dairy products, the past year was a most difficult one for practically all live stock farmers owing to subnormal crops of oats, barley and other feed in 1947. This year the province has harvested the best grain crops since 1942 and while its live stock holdings have declined as a result of the feed shortages over the past 12 months, it is now in a position to increase its production from its remaining stock and to rebuild its herds.

These conditions will apply to practically the entire province as the grain crop yields were high in nearly every agricultural district.

STIMULATE PRODUCTION
The crops in the western grain belt, while not of bumper proportions (and as already mentioned, short in Western Saskatchewan and Eastern Alberta), aggregate 767 million bushels (wheat, oats, barley, flax and rye) as compared with 667 million last year. Feed grains in that area as a whole will also stimulate live stock production, although redistribution of the available feed supply from surplus to deficit districts will be necessary.

Platitudes
Winnipeg Free Press
Most politicians talk so long? Most of their fault as speakers come from the fact that they insist on stretching material for a 10-minute speech into 40 minutes.

After all, Wilson presented the Underwood Tariff Bill to Congress in a speech of eight minutes; the Gettysburg address was over almost before it started; Asquith could state a case with incomparable cogency in 15 minutes; some of Churchill's greatest war reviews lasted less than half an hour; and Laurier and Borden both knew the value of a short speech. It would brighten Harnard and enhance the prestige of Parliament if more members began to practice this lost art.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

THIS COLUMN rarely uses the term "desperate" in describing a situation, because that word implies hopelessness. But the position in China has deteriorated to a point which certainly is crowding desperation.

That unhappy land, housing close to one-quarter of the globe's population, has sunk so deep in the chaos of civil war and economic collapse that no man can predict her fate.

ANXIOUS SPECULATION

The question of whether Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek can maintain his Nationalist government and defeat the Red rebellion is a matter of anxious speculation.

The Chinese Communists, having overrun strategic Manchuria, now are driving southward in China. The great northern metropolis of Peiping, spiritual capital of the country, is in a state of panic—a city of doom. The Communists continue their drive towards Suchow, the last northern gateway to Chiang's capital, Nanking.

Meantime the economic situation has worsened. The military disasters in the north have further shaken the confidence of the people in the ability of the government to cope with the situation. There has been a grave increase in the food shortage, said to be due in considerable degree to hoarding.

CHIANG OPTIMISTIC

As for Chiang, he gives the impression of having no doubts of success. He has called on his followers to prepare for eight more years of war against the Chinese Communists.

State Secretary Marshall conferred privately in Paris yesterday with China's United Nations' delegation chief, Dr. T. F. Tsiang. American sources said the whole question of Chinese aid is being studied against a general background of feeling that there is not much point in pouring water into a leaking bucket.

At the same time William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France and Russia, said in Washington he was leaving for China to make a survey for the joint congressional economic cooperation association committee. He hopes to return by Christmas with a report of China's needs to meet the Communist military threat.

Thus the indications are that the United States intends to pursue a program of aid to China. The Chinese civil war is a vital part of the conflict with Russian communism.

It wouldn't be profitable to win the cold war in Europe but lose the fight in the Far East.

CIVILIZATION

While no statistics are available, there is a strong probability that more white men have been shot by accident during hunting season than were shot by Indians on purpose in the pioneer days.

TRAMP PARADISE

Montreal Star
Most of us have a sneaking admiration for tramps. Most of us, hemmed in by responsibilities and convention envy the care-free existence of the tramp who, taking rough with smooth, prefers the hardships of his lot than to put his head into the working collar.

Tramps, however, are now to get the best of both worlds. An order of the Essex County Council Welfare committee has instructed its officers that tramps, stranded late at night, are to be given taxis to the nearest county hostel or institution. In the daytime they are to get bus fare.

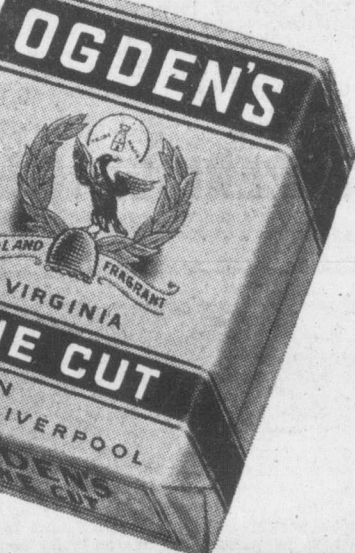

Who now wouldn't be a tramp? He not only does not have to work—he does not even have to travel. (See next page by taxi) for the open road.

LESSON LEARNED

Ottawa Journal
But from the U.S. result one lesson is learned for all parties, and especially, we believe, for our two major parties. It is that no party on this continent can triumph at the polls or long endure which does not make its first concern the well-being of the common crowd. As never before in the world's history the so-called "little man" is on the march; organized, enlightened, conscious of his power, wealthy a party may be, organized, efficiently led; unless it can get the feel of the common soul, strike directly for the hearts of the great mass of the people, understanding their problems, their little troubles, their sorrows and their hopes, it is doomed to fail.

That is our sort of world.

Saanich Council Split On Move To Kill Ward System

Saanich Council continues to be definitely split on the subject of abolition of the ward system which would mean election of council members at large.

This was quite evident Tuesday night at the council session when new overtures were made to have the matter put to the voters in plebiscite form at the December elections.

Councillor Leslie Passmore of Ward 7 started discussion rolling on the topic. In addition to the plebiscite being put to wipe out the wards, he also asked that the council be cut down to six members and a reeve.

"There would never be a deadlocked issue with that kind of a council," Mr. Passmore declared. He was referring here to the way the present set-up, of a council of eight, as evidenced time and again on the airport question, tied things into a knot repeatedly. An amendment would be required to the Municipal Act to reduce the council strength. Reeve Warren told the previous meeting.

Councillor George Rudd seconded the motion. Reeve E. C. Warren urged the council not to vote on it until Councillor J. L. Hobbs, away for the night in connection with business, returned to his council seat. Mr. Passmore finally withdrew his motion and presented it as a notice-of-motion. It will be voted on at either the next council meeting.

WILL BE GUIDED BY PEOPLE

Mr. Rudd expressed a fair-minded view. Although he said he would personally vote to retain the ward system, it was the apparent wish of a great many people that they have an opportunity to express themselves on it.

"Therefore, if the people vote that they want abolition, I will have to support them," Mr. Rudd said.

"It will be the start of secession again," warned Councillor W. C. Kersey. "You still have two conflicting interests in this municipality, the urban and the rural," he added, indicating he would oppose it when the motion was presented.

Mr. Kersey was inclined to believe that the real answer to the whole matter was amalgamation. On this he was ruled out of order by the reeve.

Councillor E. C. Cummins saw the danger of an election at large bringing about the result of the heavily-populated inner wards "swaying things their way." He was against ward abolition.

"WE'VE GROWN UP"

"We've grown up and need the change to become a single unit. Wiping out the wards would bring the council together as a team. We are not serving Saanich the way we should as a seven-section municipality," were some of the sentiments of Councillor Thomas Alexander.

Councillor K. R. Genn had a suggestion of the inner wards being made one and the rural area being split into three wards. This would also require an act amendment, the reeve said. Mr. Genn said he was merely trying to suggest a plan where the rural areas would retain their independence.

Mr. Passmore declared that as a councillor of a ward "you've got to concentrate on your section—and if you don't you'll get defeated seeking re-election sure as shooting."

"With abolition of the wards," he said, "the councillor becomes bigger, sees the whole municipality as his responsibility, not a little section of it."

Action On Saanich Houses Illegally Erected Is Ordered

Saanich Council gave instructions to its officials Tuesday night to take action through the court or otherwise against those people who have erected houses in the municipality without first obtaining building permits.

Stanley Green, municipal collector and assessor, reported that in a recent tour of the municipality he came upon at least a half dozen houses which had been put up without the necessary papers.

"These houses are not on the assessment roll and this means the owners are not paying taxes," said Mr. Green. If not discovered the owners would have continued to escape the levy, he added.

J. S. Taylor, building inspector, was instructed to take "suitable action." This means either court action or order for the buildings torn down. If structures were of good calibre, Councillor E. C. Cummins was of the opinion their removal should not be ordered.

A suggestion from Mr. Taylor that Saanich take action similar to that of other municipalities of charging double for building permits where it was found they had not been taken out, will be considered at a future meeting of the council. Amendment to the by-law would be required.

To Get Voice Of People On Saanich Airpark Issue Through Plebiscite

Although Saanich Council has repealed the by-law to rezone Gordon Head property for an airpark, the issue remains far from a dead one.

The question flared anew at the regular meeting of Saanich Council Tuesday night when a majority vote decision was reached to give the voters of the municipality a chance to cast their ballots in a plebiscite on the matter in the December elections.

Absence of Councillor J. L. Hobbs, Ward 3, on business, resulted in the pro-airparkist members of the council winning the motion to put the matter to the people. It was presented by Councillor W. C. Kersey.

The vote went 4 to 3 in favor, Mr. Hobbs not being there to bring about the tie vote which has become routine whenever the question of the airpark comes before the meeting on decision points. Supporting Mr. Kersey were pro-airparkists, Councillors G. Rudd, T. Alexander and L. H. Passmore, Reeve E. C. Warren, Councillors K. R. Genn and E. C. Cummins voting "no."

"Of course," said Reeve Warren, "even if you do put a plebiscite to the people the result will have no force or effect with the council under the rules of the Town Planning Act, therefore I don't see any advantage to it."

PLEBISCITE BEST GAUGE

Mr. Kersey, however, noted that the purpose was to get the feeling of the people in the vicinity of the proposed airpark as to whether they favor the plan or not.

"In each ward we vote at two polling stations and therefore will be able to get from them the feeling of the people surrounding the area concerned," he said. Mr. Passmore said he was heartily in favor of the move.

Reeve Warren noted that a new rezoning by-law on the site would require another public hearing to hear pro and con. If property owners of 20 per cent of the street frontage bordering the area opposed it, the reeve said, it would require a three-fifths majority vote of the council to strike a by-law. If the percentage was under 20 per cent a straight majority vote would only be necessary from the council to pass a motion for the by-law.

Mr. Cummins wanted to know how the Memorial Air Park Association could get standard 1,800-foot runways on the property. Mr. Kersey replied the association would not get a license from the Department of Transport if it was found the layout did not live up to specifications. "It's not our business," he said.

Mr. Kersey here was making reference to last week's letter from W. Lawson of the department stating that if the plans as shown his division on the airpark were followed out as set down, a license would be granted.

Several letters on the issue were read.

One was from W. A. Scott, president of the air park association, suggesting a specified fact-finding group be appointed to try and solve differences.

MOTION DEFEATED

N. Cowper Bell, president of Ward 3 Ratepayers, after noting where private property adjoining the proposed airpark would be in danger, asked the council to take steps to fix adequate financial responsibility for compensation before proceeding further.

After this Mr. Cummins presented a motion calling for the City of Victoria to shoulder this responsibility. It was defeated by the same vote.

H. Hastings, whose address was listed on the letter as R.R. 2 Duncan, a ratepayer in Ward 3, said:

"We have the spectacle of four councillors representing wards which are in no way affected trying to force this by-law against the misgivings of wards directly affected, thereby creating a feeling of sectionalism or civil war. Wards 2, 6 and 7 are not affected so these councillors don't care—it is not their shoes which are pinching."

A letter from Rex Hardie of the same ward disputed Mr. Kersey's statement that by substituting a 1 in 20 gradient for the 1 in 30 specified in the withdrawn by-law no existing houses would be affected.

"I assure council private business will be affected in a 1 to 20 gradient," he declared. The council voted a copy of Mr. Lawson's letter be sent to the writer. The letter from the department said the 1 in 20 basis would be approved.

The James Bay fire hall would be built on property at the south east corner of Superior and Oswego Streets which the Town Planning Commission recommended as a site for a hall. The wardens asked that plans for the new hall be sought immediately.

They recommended also that the Town Planning Commission be asked to approve the setting aside of property on the south side of Pandora Avenue between Belmont Avenue and Stadacona Avenue (opposite Stadacona Park) as a site for a future hall.

Another recommendation was that the planning commission study and select a suitable site for a new fire hall in the Victoria West-Esquimalt area.

Sixteen residents of Westall Avenue in the Oaklands district today complained to the City Council that a building under construction on the street is detrimental to values of existing properties. They asked for an investigation.

Seek Power For Fast Action On Condemned Shacks

Saanich representatives at the next U.B.C.M. convention will seek power for municipalities to be allowed to immediately take action on getting rid of houses condemned as health menaces or fire death traps.

Councillor Leslie Passmore secured this council action when he complained of the "red tape" municipalities have to go through before the structures were burned or torn down. He noted one recent case where a death by fire had occurred in a building which had been condemned.

"We just couldn't act fast enough under the present restrictions," he said.

Council decided to ask the owner of North Dairy Road condemned shacks to allow the fire department to attend and burn them down. The building committee will investigate cottages at the end of Doumac Avenue, Cordova Bay, before deciding what is to be their fate.

Ask For James Bay Fire Hall, Truck

City fire wardens recommended to the City Council today that the 1949 council be urged to make provisions in next year's estimates for a new fire truck and construction of a James Bay fire hall.

The wardens said it was hoped a policy of gradual replacement of old motor fire fighting apparatus would be established.

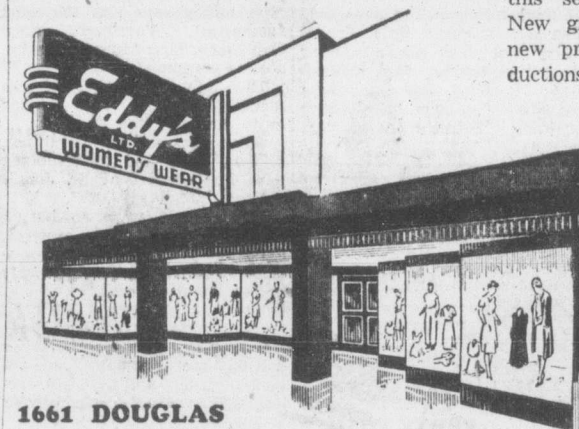

The new truck they hope will be purchased next year would replace a combination motor pumper which has been in use since 1929. The new truck would have a 1,000 gallon tank.

The James Bay fire hall would be built on property at the south east corner of Superior and Os-

James Bay—Regular meeting of James Bay P.T.A. was held Tuesday in South Park School when final plans were made for the annual bazaar. Mrs. E. Eastwood presided and humorous songs were enjoyed. Following business, refreshments were served.

Young Musician Completes Tour

"Our tour was very exciting. Every place we visited was different and we loved it all," says attractive, 18-year-old pianist, Joan Milloy, who returned earlier this week from a triumphal tour of the Okanagan Valley and the prairies, with Malcolm Tait, young Vancouver cellist.

Joan is the daughter of Mrs. C. A. Milloy, and a granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Robinson, 1900 Argyle Street.

She began studying piano at the age of seven but tells you she has been interested in music ever since she can remember. Her expressive face, framed with blonde, slightly curling hair, mirrors her idealistic dreams as she voices the ambition to become a concert pianist, then changes to realistic determination as she adds, "but first I wish to study for several years in London."

Already the ambitious young miss has made plans for this year.

She will continue her studies with her teacher, Stanley Shale, and next June hopes to receive her L.R.S.M.

During the four-week tour, sponsored by the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers, the two talented young musicians gave 19 performances.

In the beginning, Joan was accompanied by violinist, Dorothy Murray, but after the first three performances, in Victoria (which Miss Milloy says was the most successful), Vancouver and Chilliwack, Miss Murray was unable to continue.

Then, with only three practices together, Malcolm Tait stepped in to complete the tour.

"We played in churches, schools, halls and in Winnipeg gave our concert at St. John's College," Joan says.

"The people were so hospitable. We were taken on drives, entertained and on some occasions were guests in private homes instead of staying at hotels."

"Of course we were so busy traveling and giving concerts we had no time to practice," she explains. "And no time to get homesick, either," she adds with a chuckle.

MISS JOAN MILLOY

Questioned on the quality of pianos found on her travels, Miss Milloy says they were variable, then tells, with a quick laugh, of an amusing incident in Penitence.

"When we were half way through the performance," she says, "the audience moved—chairs and all—into another auditorium, where we finished the concert, all because of squeaking piano pedals."

"In North Battleford," she continues, "in the middle of our concert, the piano began to vibrate. 'And to top it all, I broke my first piano string just before a concert in Brandon.'"

Miss Milloy, still excited and completely happy with the success of the tour, is the first young Victoria musician to be chosen by the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers, to participate in its series of concerts, which were started eight years ago.

a maze of dark and sometimes bright interwoven stitches to the inexperienced eye, the six variations of the cross stitch, the mysenka and the hlayda mean a great deal to the maker. She sees all her fears, joys and desires in her unbelievably minute and perfect stitches."

Victoria C.G.I.T. leaders' council sponsoring C.G.I.T. rally, First Baptist Church, Thursday from 2:30 until 9 for teenage girls. Registrations commence at 2:30. Evening session at 8 p.m., main auditorium. Guest speaker, Miss Christine Duffin; rally theme, "To Be a Girl in Such an Age As This."

Perfect English In Unesco School

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver librarian says that it takes a cultured foreigner to speak the English language perfectly.

Mrs. Elizabeth Musto, principal assistant in Vancouver's Public Library, was one of 50 librarians attending the UNESCO Library School held in London. The brief month's course cost $500.

"The most exquisite English was spoken by a Haitian, but Indian and Chinese representatives also spoke marvelously," she said.

The school concerned itself with the mystery of the whereabouts of millions of European books, and learned about the pools of replacements operating in London and Paris.

"The school was a tremendous experience in international living," said Mrs. Musto. "The only sour note was the refusal of two Polish students to speak to one another. One was a Communist and the other was not."

Embroidery Tells Story Of Life

TORONTO (CP)—Intricate, symbolic patterns in Ukrainian embroidery portray the mood, personality and life of the needleworker to trained eyes.

At an exhibition of Ukrainian handicrafts by the women's association of the newly-constructed St. Vladimir Church here this week, Mrs. A. Chumak explained the colorful stories woven into the needlework.

"One particular piece of embroidery tells the story of a woman in a concentration camp. Although it conveys nothing but

Members of the bridal party pictured above include newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. William Stubbe, best man, Joseph Longpre; Miss Marilyn Westendale, honor maid for her cousin, and flower girls, Marcia, left, and Linda Henly, twin nieces of the bride.—(Photo by Movie Snap)

St. Andrew's Cathedral was the scene of an early morning wedding Oct. 30, when Joyce Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mrs. H. Leavitt, 1030 Cook Street, and the late Mr. Leavitt, became the bride of William Stubbe, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Stubbe, Edmonton.

Following their brief honeymoon the couple are making their home in Vancouver.

Nuptial mass was solemnized by Rev. D. Johnson, and the server was Redmond Collins.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Barnard Leavitt, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was a Victorian model in white, and her embroidered veil was crowned with sprigs of orange blossoms. Dainty white baby mums and pale pink and white carnations created the bride's bouquet and she carried a white rosary.

Miss Marilyn Westendale, cousin of the bride, wore sea-blue taffeta. Her veil matched her gown and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations and mauve baby mums.

Misses Marcia and Linda Henly, twin nieces of the bride, were dressed alike in full-skirted frocks of yellow rayon taffeta. The charming flower maids carried Colonial bouquets.

Joseph Longpre assisted the groom as best man. Acting as usher was Lawrence Westendale. Soloist, Miss Stella Leavitt sang "Panis Angelicus" and Weigand's "Ave Maria," accompanied by Miss Marguerite McKay, as organist.

Following the rites, Mrs. Barnard Leavitt received guests at her home on McBride Avenue. She was assisted by Mrs. Leavitt, Sr.

The bride's table was centred with a triple-tiered cake, flanked by tall, white tapers in silver holders. Guests enjoyed a wedding breakfast, and toast to the bride was given by Mr. Westendale. Among guests were Father D. Johnson, and from-out-of-town, Mrs. F. Johnstone, R. Ramsdale and B. Gladu.

Personal Notes

Miss Yerburgh, Major Buckle
Wed In Afternoon Ceremony

Gold and white chrysanthemums decked St. Barnabas' Church this afternoon for the ceremony at 2.30 when Miss Prudence Mary Yerburgh became the bride of Major Claude Dampien Buckle, M.B.E.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Yerburgh, 768 Middleton Street, and the late Richard Yerburgh. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Buckle, 1241 Monterey Avenue.

Rev. E. G. Munn officiated at the service. Traditional wedding music was provided by James Gerry at the organ.

Rev. R. E. M. Yerburgh gave his sister in marriage.

A period-styled gown in palest blue satin, the classic skirt slightly en train, was worn by the bride. Her coronet of the same glistening satin held a fine veil of silk illusion net. Her bridal bouquet was composed of ivory-tinted roses.

Miss Susan Yerburgh, niece of the bride, and Miss Wendy Gerry were flower girls. Their gowns, repeating the theme of the bride's costume, were in ivory-toned velvet, caught with satin sashes to match the blue wreaths they wore in their hair, and their pale blue slippers. Gold and white chrysanthemums were in their Colonial bouquets.

The groom chose as best man, A. G. Higgs. Guests were escorted to their seats by Lt.-Col. T. G. Evans, and Major H. Bellamy.

A reception for family members was held at the Yerburgh home. T. Calloway of North Vancouver proposed the toast to the bride.

Later when Major and Mrs. Buckle left on their honeymoon, the bride wore a chic beaver-brown suit, with green suede accessories, to match her green velvet model hat trimmed with pheasant feathers. Her corsage bouquet was of exquisite green and brown orchids.

The couple have chosen their future home at Sidney.

Nannies Complete
Exquisite Layette

LONDON (CP)—Clothes for Princess Elizabeth's baby, hand-made by the nannies—the children's nursemaids—of the British Isles, now are finished.

The layette, a gift from the Nursery Nurses' Association, is on show at the association headquarters in Queens Gate, West London.

One of the nannies, 72-year-old Miss N. J. Earle, made two of the nightgowns. Every stitch was sewn by hand and all the edges scalloped without tracing.

"I was one of the founder-members of the Nursery Nurses' Association," said Miss Earle in her sitting-room, hung with photographs of babies.

Miss Earle, one of 12 children, brought up her five youngest brothers and sisters. When she was 20 she sailed alone to Ceylon to take her first post as nanny.

lowing were in charge of booths: Home cooking, Mrs. T. C. Burley and Mrs. E. Larmann; aprons, Mrs. F. E. Beaven and Miss L. Orman; baby stall, Mrs. A. Sangster and Mrs. W. Harris; novelties, Mrs. H. Murray and Mrs. R. H. Harrison. Mrs. W. H. Routledge was in charge of the script. Tea arrangements were taken care of by Mrs. E. LeBus.

This is the second year that the Soroptimist Club of Victoria, with only 30 active members, has been responsible on a voluntary basis for distribution of over 19,000 envelopes containing Christmas TB seals.

Monies received from sale of these seals, provides free chest X-rays, assists in re-establishment of tuberculous patients, provides Canada's finest tuberculosis operating theatre, right in British Columbia, and circulates data on prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

The envelopes, filled with seals, will all be ready and in the mail by the middle of November. Returns will be made to Soroptimist headquarters, Room 14, 749 Broughton Street, where they will be sorted, monies counted and banked, and reports made to the B.C. Tuberculosis Society.

Mrs. A. M. Robertson, president of the club, is in charge of the project; Mrs. J. U. Kimmitt, immediate past president, is chairman in charge of work. Others on the committee are Miss Ella Walker, Miss Nell Jones, Mrs. Sarah McMartin and Mrs. B. M. Clarke.

Miss Gypsy Gould, also a Soroptimist, helps type addresses on over 19,000 envelopes, ready for the Christmas TB seal campaign.

Mrs. J. U. Kimmitt is a steady worker. She holds an armful of envelopes, inserted, sealed, and ready for mailing.

For a very good-tasting ham glaze, mix brown sugar with a little corn starch and pat onto a cooked ham. Pour a cup of Burgundy wine around the ham and bake it 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven, basting it frequently with the wine. To make a garnish for the ham, place canned cling peach halves around the ham and give them the same kind of glaze.

To cook macaroni al dente, bring 2 quarts water to a rapid boil. Add 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon vegetable oil or fat so the macaroni will not stick together, and stir in 1/2 lb. macaroni broken in one-inch lengths. Boil rapidly until barely tender, about 15 minutes. Drain and toss with 1 tablespoon melted butter and a little grated cheese.

The orchard fresh flavor of whole fruit nectars has made them famous the country over. They are made from tree-ripened apricots, peaches or pears and contain pulp as well as the juice of the fruit.

The next time you're going to serve salad teens, toss them with your favorite French dressing and then top the bowl with clusters of grapefruit sections. It makes a pretty salad and tastes wonderful.

U.N. Tells Balkan Red Bloc To Help Greece In Dispute

PARIS (CP)—The United Nations' political committee Tuesday called on Greece's Russian-dominated northern neighbors to co-operate with Greece in settling the Balkan dispute.

Yugoslavia served notice immediately she would not co-operate with the U.N.'s Special Committee on the Balkans (U.N.S.C.O.B.). Yugoslav delegate Ales Bebler told the committee his country would maintain its boycott of that committee.

Forty-three of the political committee's 58 members backed the move for co-operation. The six-power Soviet bloc again refused to vote.

The committee resumed this morning its voting on individual paragraphs of a resolution proposed by Britain, the United States, France and China.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hon. W. C. Woodward has announced plans for a $400,000 warehouse in suburban Burnaby. The new warehouse, to be started next spring, will handle merchandise for both the Vancouver store and the proposed $1,000,000 store to be built in New Westminster next year.

Mildest Fall Of Many Years Enjoyed In Most Of Canada

By CANADIAN PRESS

Golfers tramped Calgary links and dandelions were still blooming this week in Winnipeg as most of Canada enjoyed the mildest fall weather in the memory of many an old-timer.

There were butterflies at the lakehead and Ottawa could still boast nine lilac trees in bloom and one white rose. Brantford, Ont., gardeners tended the last lingering apple blossoms and bunches of chrysanthemums which should have withered with frost long ago, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

Weather experts explained that great currents of air which usually sweep eastward across southern Canada and the Great Lakes at this time of year, bringing icy polar air, were moving across the sparsely-populated far north, leaving more southerly sections to bask in almost spring-like weather.

NORMAL PATTERN MISSING

Somewhere (the weather men couldn't guess where) a kindly anti-cyclone, an area of extremely high pressure, had disrupted the normal pattern of the world's air currents.

Vancouver was foggy, rainy, cold and damp, but Vancouverites were used to that. Edmonton was bright and sunny and snow that fell Sunday had disappeared. Calgary enjoyed one of the longest and brightest Indian summers on record. There had been only a trace of snow—last Sept. 23.

Victoria, in contrast with Vancouver, has been enjoying bright, sunny days.

In Regina where snow is not unusual in mid-October, the first traces fell Tuesday and disappeared almost immediately. Winnipeg, where the average October snowfall is 2.8 inches and has been as heavy as 15.4 inches, there was only one light fall.

A record late freeze-up was in the making at Flin Flon, Man., as float-equipped planes continue to operate out of Flin Flon to the northern lakes. Floats became useless last year.

Plan Auto Freight B.C. To Fairbanks

SPOKANE (AP)—The Manlove Transfer Company hopes to open a motor freight line over the original Alaska Highway between Dawson Creek and Fairbanks, Alaska, early next year, Vice-President John Manlove said here.

New equipment designed especially for the route is being built, he said.

Because of load restrictions on Alberta highways, he said, the company could not haul profitably direct from the United States to Fairbanks.

Instead the firm will ship goods by rail to Dawson Creek, then load it on trucks for the 1,587-mile road haul to Fairbanks.

Atom Bombs Limited

NEW YORK (AP)—Two hopeful things for defence in United States against atomic bombs were reported to the American Institute of Chemical Engineers Tuesday by Ralph F. Dimmitt of the National Security Industrial Resources Board, Washington.

One, he said, is the probability that the number of atomic bombs will be limited. There is not enough uranium to use them for any except very important targets.

The other is the fact that industry in the United States already is dispersing on a big scale. This scattering out over large spaces is the best defence against atom bombs.

The three beasts necessary for the making of fine perfume are the whale, musk ox and civet.

Colorful Program Arranged For Big Scottish Reunion

The strident bugle call "Fall in A, fall in B, fall in every company" will resound above the chatter of old friends meeting again at Bay Street Armory Saturday night at 6 to send the boys back to their old companies and start the ball rolling for the annual reunion party of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

The show has the appearance of being the biggest in the two-war history of the regiment. We are expecting fully 400 Scottish veterans, old and young, to be on hand," said R.S.M. James Stottard. The event is being handled by the Regimental Association.

VETERANS OF BOTH WARS

Tickets, he said, are available from all sergeants and W.O.s of the present reserve battalion at the Armory and can be secured at the door. At all up-island centres where there are former members of the regiment tickets are available at Canadian Legion offices.

The reunion is open to any person who has worn the Scottish colors since the first world conflict. Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks, honorary colonel will attend.

After the boys have assembled in their old companies, the rum ration parade will follow.

This will be followed by the traditional two-minute's silence to honor the war dead of the regiment. A spotlight will be directed at a cross and regimental pipers will pipe The Lament.

After this the spotlight will be dimmed, then brightened and the pipes and drums will sound Reveille.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean, regimental padre, will say grace.

Local talent will then perform in a concert arranged by Stan James, two-war veteran and comedian.

Cancer Specialist Dies In Regina

REGINA (CP) — Well-known cancer specialist and director of Regina's Cancer Clinic since 1938, Dr. Allan V. Blair, 49, died Tuesday from a heart attack. He had been in ill health since July.

Dr. Blair headed the first clinic in Canada to provide free diagnosis and treatment of cancer, including surgery and hospitalization. Started in 1932, the clinic was backed by both the former Liberal and present C.C.F. administrations in Saskatchewan.

Nationalists Lose Senate Elections In South Africa

PRETORIA (Reuter) — Four opposition candidates, representing the native population, were elected to the South African senate Tuesday, leaving Prime Minister Daniel Malan's Nationalist government with a minority of one in the senate. The opposition now has 22 members, the government 21.

Two of the new senators were returned unopposed. The government candidates who fought the other two contests lost their deposits.

A minority in the senate does not mean the government must resign. There are various constitutional devices to which it may resort if it does not choose to call a new general election.

It is known, for instance, that the government has called for a legal opinion on whether native representatives can be debarred from voting on questions of confidence.

If the opinion on such a measure is unfavorable, the government can still introduce the legislation and secure its passage by a joint sitting of both houses of parliament, in which it would have a majority of four.

In the House of Assembly, the Nationalists have 70 seats and their allies, the Afrikaner Party, nine. Field Marshal Jan Smuts' United Party has 65 seats and labor six. There are also three representatives of the native population.

Use Marshall Plan Dollars For Food, Newspaper Suggests

LONDON (CP) — The Daily Mail, commenting editorially on the "mystery about that bacon," suggests Parliament probe into food matters.

Food Minister John Strachey announced Monday that Britain's bacon ration would be cut from two ounces to one ounce a week, beginning Nov. 21. He said he could not guarantee restoration of the ration to two ounces for the Christmas season would be permanent.

The Daily Mail suggests that Marshall Plan dollars should be spent for food.

The bacon-conscious paper comments: "Strachey says that Canada cannot send us all we need. But a Canadian spokesman replies we can have all we can buy."

"It is the same with meat."

Strachey says there is not enough in the world for us even though we had the dollars...

"Shipping men in Canada state that British purchases of meat there are only half what they were a year ago. These matters should be probed into by members of Parliament..."

Recalling last year's financial crisis, when food imports were chopped £210,000,000 ($840,000,000), the editorial says that some commodities were replaced by others, such as the substitution of snook (sea pike) for salmon.

"But now that we receive Marshall Plan aid, why should we not spend a few of the dollars on food?" the paper asks.

Eighteen guns were taken from the Imperial War Museum, London, in 1940, to shell German raiders at sea. This story of Britain's desperation for arms after Dunkerque was told in a report of the standing commission on museums and galleries.

Rangers-Hawks Duel To Vacate Last Spot

Boston Bruins will be on their home ice tonight when they seek revenge for the 7 to 3 beating they took Sunday from the first-place Detroit Red Wings.

While the National Hockey League's two top clubs are battling in Boston, Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers will be fighting in Madison Square Garden to get out of the cellar spot.

The Boston-Detroit game means a lot for both teams in the early-season race. A win for Boston would put them—temporarily, at least—into second place all alone, two points ahead of Montreal Canadiens.

After losing 4 to 2 to Chicago last Sunday, the crippled Rangers—all but goalie Chuck Rayner—got the worst tongue-lashing of the season from coach Frank Boucher.

"You're big boys," he told them yesterday, "let's see you dish it out instead of taking it all the time."

ROUGH SCHEDULE

For Chicago, the game is the start of a four-games-in-five-nights grind. Bill Tobin's Hawks move on to Montreal Thursday, Toronto Saturday and back home Sunday to play Detroit.

Coach Charlie Conacher of Chicago shifted the Conacher-Stewart-Bodnar line in early-week workouts. Gus Bodnar, regarded as a natural centre when he played with Toronto last year, was shifted to right wing with Jimmy Conacher put in the pivot spot.

The fourth-place Maple Leafs hope to have right-wing Howie Meeker back in harness for Saturday's game—their only tilt this week. Meeker broke a toe three weeks ago against Montreal.

Ten Eyck Retires As Syracuse Coach

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Edward Hanlan (Ned) Ten Eyck, the first American to win the Diamond Sculls at Henley-On-Thames, England, will retire as Syracuse University's rowing coach in June, it was reported reliably today.

Ten Eyck, who succeeded his father, James A. Ten Eyck, as Syracuse's rowing coach in 1938, reached the university retirement age of 65 a few years ago. It is understood he continued coaching at his own request.

Named after the famous Toronto sculler, Edward Hanlan, Ten Eyck won the Diamond Sculls in 1897 at the age of 17 and was United States singles champion from 1898 to 1901.

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's badminton team which meets Indian here Dec. 3-4 in the first round of the 10-country Thomas Cup competition will be named Nov. 23. R. B. Banks of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Badminton Association, announced Tuesday. Trials will be held in Toronto and Vancouver.

First trials will be held here this week-end with singles and doubles players from Quebec,

Inflation Strikes Golf In Britain

LONDON (AP)—The Professional Golfers' Association let go with an inflationary note today.

It announced that it will charge 15 shillings ($3.50) a day to see professional golfing aces of the United States and Great Britain play for the Ryder Cup at Ganton, Yorkshire, next Sept. 16 and 17.

That's twice as much as it cost in 1937, the last time the matches were played here.

Royals Knock Off Vancouver To Gain In Coast Ice Race

The New Westminster Royals were six points ahead of the pack today and digging in to defend their lead in the Pacific Coast Hockey League's northern division.

Latest challenger to fall was Vancouver, defeated by New Westminster last night 5 to 2. The loss left the Canucks in a three-way tie for second place with Seattle and Tacoma.

Tacoma's Rockets, touring in the southern division, cooled Oakland 4 to 3 by shoving across two goals in the final period. It was Doug Toole who set up the Rocket victory. He stole the puck off Oak goalie Yves Nadeau's stick, slipped behind him and slammed in the tying goal.

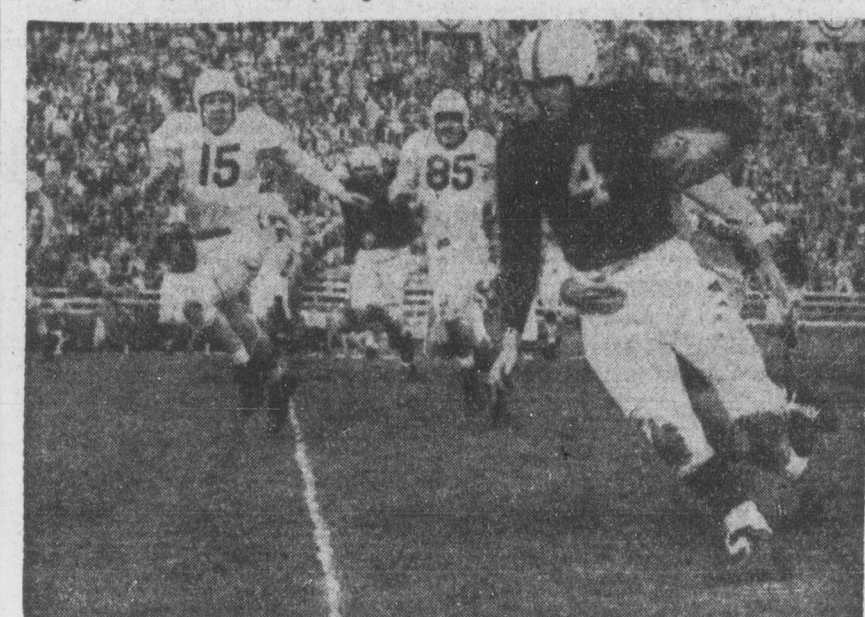

Doug Adams netted the winning score four minutes later. At Fresno the Los Angeles Monarchs thanked their forward Ike Hildebrand for a spectacular shot late in the final frame which knocked over the Fresno Falcons 4 to 3.

Suspension Lifted On Westminster Club

New Westminster Army and Navy Softball Club, suspended at the close of the 1948 season for walking off the field in a main-land playoff game, has been reinstated for 1949 season play it was announced today by D. Fraser, president of the B.C. Softball Association.

The club received a severe warning that a recurrence of the incident will be dealt with by an indefinite suspension. This also serves as a warning to all other softball clubs.

Oregon Downs Washington

Washington's Chuck Olson (4) is about to be hauled down from behind by unidentified Oregon tackler after receiving a pass and romping for eight yards. In on the play are DeWayne Johnson (15) and Dan Garza (88), both of Washington. Oregon defeated Washington in the game played at Seattle, 13 to 7.

Normal School Hoop Teams Gain Split In Exhibition Tilts

Defeating Oak Bay High School 34 to 22 at Oak Bay, the men's basketball quintette from Normal School yesterday gained an even split for a pair of student game teams from the future teachers' institution.

The women's Normal School squad dropped a 28 to 21 decision to Victoria College in the other game at Vic High School.

Normal School men took an early lead in the game at Oak Bay, moving out in front 6 to 0 in the first quarter and holding a 14 to 6 margin at the half.

Oak Bay rallied to outscore the teachers 9 to 2 in the third canto and shave the lead to 16 to 15. Four baskets by Kelly Slater and three by Hampton sparked the winners to an 18-point scoring spree in the final period. Slater was high man for Normal School with 12 points.

It was strictly a "two-man" show at Vic High where Jean Sufferin and Eileen Maynard combined to score 27 points between them for Vic College. Sufferin counted 15 markers and was easily the outstanding player on the floor while Maynard added 11.

Teams and scores follow: Normal School-Slater, 13, James, 6, Mortimer, Tomasso, 8, Tortorelli, Patino, 10, Loefer, Hampton, 8, Mosher, 9, Hampton. Oak Bay-Patterson, 7, Tolson, 1, Hill, 6, Auchincloss, 6, Baxter, Howden, McNaughton, 1, Lynne, Johnston. Normal School-McKenna, 10, K. Wilson, 2, Croxley, 4, Smith, Cutler, 3, Gregson, 1, Wilson, Addard, Keith, 3, McQuarrie, Blair, 2. Victoria College-Sufferin, 15, Hamilton, Maynard, 12, Edwards, 1, Boyd, McKee.

Bays-University In Rugby Draw

In an evenly-contested exhibition rugby match yesterday, Oak Bay High's senior rep squad and the University School fifteen battled to a 3 to 3 draw.

Play see-sawed back and forth and all scoring was confined to the first half. Ken Higgs tallied an unconverted try for Bays and Shipley booted a field goal for University School.

Powell, Olmstead Pace Minor Hockey

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Ray Powell and Bert Olmstead of Kansas City Pla-Mors, each with 20 points, topped the United States Hockey League scoring list in games through Sunday.

Powell has 10 goals with an equal number of assists while Olmstead leads the assist department with 12. Hank Blake, also of Kansas City, is tied with Powell on goals but his five assists dropped him into seventh position.

Don Black May Go Back Into Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP)—Continual headaches may force pitcher Don Black of Cleveland Indians to go back to the hospital soon, physicians reported last night.

Dr. Edward Castle, team physician, said X-rays will be taken tomorrow to determine whether an operation is advisable. If it is, Black will have to return, probably next week, for several weeks.

Black left hospital only a few weeks ago in the belief that he had just about recovered from the brain hemorrhage he suffered during a game Sept. 13 with the St. Louis Browns.

United In Position To Dull Barbs Of Critics

Victoria soccer fans—just as critical as any on the coast—may speak with tongue in cheek after tomorrow's Coast League game at Athletic Park between United and New Westminster Royals at 2.15.

At least United could save grace with a victory over the Royals.

It's this way! Quite often United players—most of whom are home-brews—are criticized by fans when they make a miskick or appear lax in their assignments. These usually uncomplimentary remarks are spiced with the taunt "Old Country players wouldn't make that mistake."

Well on the New Westminster eleven there are a number of former professional players from the British Isles. And one can't just help wondering what the remarks will be if these players fail to show to advantage and United can emerge with a victory.

Group of high school players will be guests at tomorrow's match under the sponsorship of David Spencer Ltd.

Surprising Collegians Meet Scots Tomorrow

Surprisingly enough Victoria College Vikings lead the three-team first division rugby league with an unbeaten record in three games. More surprising is the fact that the students at one time considered dropping out of senior competition because the calibre of their teams was not up to the standards of other senior fiftens.

But the 1948-49 edition of the College has disproved this theory and brings back memories of the strong student veteran team of 1945-46.

On the light side, the Students boast a smart three-quarter line and fast-breaking forwards. Reg Lott is the wheel horse of the scrum and from his break forward position spoils many an opponent's three-quarter run. Roger Ross, though not the fastest man in the league by a long way, steadies the three-quarter line and dummy's well, allowing long runs by the speedy College wings.

Tomorrow afternoon at Macdonald Park Vikings will be shooting for their third win of the season when they meet Canadian Scottish at 2.30.

SEEK REVENGE

The Scots started off the season in fine style when they defeated the Bays handily. But in the next breath they were stopped 11 to 0 by the Students. Needless to say the Scots will be angling for a small measure of revenge in tomorrow's clash.

The game promises to be close and possibly high scoring as the well-drilled veteran squad of Scots, coached by Campbell Forbes meets the offensive-minded Students.

On the lower field at the James Bay enclosure Royal Roads will play Fifth Regiment in a second division match which is also set to start at 2.30.

OAK BAY WORKOUT

Oak Bay intermediate soccer team will practice at Windsor Park tomorrow morning at 10. All players are asked to be on hand.

Pro Patria, K V's Meet In Cage Headliner Tonight

Pro Patria cagers, who dropped a one-point overtime thriller to Y.M.C.A. in their last outing, take on the second place K.V. quintette in tonight's senior A hoop game which headlines a three-game card at the High School gym.

The Vets looked a vastly improved team against the league

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

TOMORROW'S holiday Coast League soccer match between Victoria United and New Westminster Royals is a must as far as the local event is concerned. In order to retain their chances of edging North Shore for first half honors the United must come up with three victories. Other two games are against St. Andrews and Vancouver City with the former scheduled on the mainland Saturday. Of course two wins and a draw would tie the Reds but manager Roy Barnes' boys are not shooting for any deadlock—they want to win.

RETURN of New Westminster to the soccer ranks has created new interest in the Coast League. For years the Royals played a leading role in Canadian football and supporters were sorry to see them fold up some years ago. How well I remember those Royal teams of bygone years. Many great players have worn the New Westminster strip including such former stars as Sandy Strang, Jack Coulter, Dickie Stobart, Billy Findler, Dave Turner, Austin Delany and Les Rimmer. Turner and Rimmer are both residents of Victoria and will no doubt be out pulling for their old alma mater. If the clubs get a break from the weatherman a new season at attendance mark is quite possible.

SCORELESS games today are a real oddity in the National Hockey League. There have been only 11 scoreless engagements in the big time hockey circuit during the past 10 years. The goalless tussle on Oct. 23 between the Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings was the first of its kind to be played in the Montreal Forum since March 10, 1936, when Montreal Maroons played to a stalemate with the New York Rangers. Last time the Canadiens were engaged in a game lacking any scoring on Forum ice was back in January, 1934. The old Ottawa Senators were Canadiens' opponents that evening.

TWO scoreless games were played in the N.H.L. last season and both took place in Boston. Opposing the Bruins were Toronto and Detroit. The seasons of 1944-45 and 1939-40 also saw two goalless contests recorded. Two scoreless games are the most recorded in a single season during the past 10 years. In the 1942-43 and 1938-39 seasons not one scoreless game was played throughout the entire schedule. Before the 1941-42 season a 10-minute overtime period was played in an effort to settle all deadlocks.

WOMEN'S GOLF

Marcia Pryor won the silver division of the women's par competition at the Victoria Golf Club yesterday with a score of 1 down. Mrs. A. B. Nash won the bronze section honors with the same score.

EXHIBITION BASKETBALL—Warriors intermediate B boys basketball team defeated Saanich 70 to 32 in an exhibition game at Saanichton Hall last night. John Clarkson was high scorer with 18 points.

Detroit—Harold Jones, 134. Detroit, and Leory Willis, 134%, Detroit, drew, 10.

Stampeders Rule Slight Favorites

CALGARY (CP)—Western Canada's two top grid machines—Calgary Stampeders and Regina's Saskatchewan Roughriders—scheduled light drills today in preparation for their Remembrance Day battle for the west's football championship.

With the two-game playoffs series opener ending in a 4 to 4 stalemate at Regina last Saturday, tomorrow's contest shapes up as a chips-down, fight-to-the-finish battle. Stamps remained slight favorites in the betting odds on the strength of their undefeated record in league play and any possible advantage of playing on their home field.

Coach Fred Grant and his huskies from Regina were scheduled to arrive in the city today. The Roughriders left the Saskatchewan capital a day early to get in a shakedown practice here before tomorrow's crucial tilt.

Rival mentor Les Lear, former Winnipeg lineman, said he was satisfied with his club following a tough scrimmage session last night.

KEEPS STRATEGY SECRET

"The boys are showing lots of pepper and will give a good account of themselves," Lear said. He continued his policy of keeping secret any special strategy outlined to combat Roughriders. Only doubtful starter on the Calgary line-up is western all-star guard Dave (Baldy) Tomlinson, who is nursing an injured arm. Tomlinson missed the series opener at Regina last week rather than take a chance on further injury to his arm, but is expected to be in uniform tomorrow.

Chuck Anderson, husky centre for the cowboys and also a member of the mythical all-star line-up, took part in yesterday's scrimmage and showed no ill effects from a knee injury suffered on the last play of the series opener.

Hayman has a couple of sharp passers in Bruce (Bones) Coulter and Steve Nemeth. Nemeth played his best game of the year at Hamilton last Saturday. His trouble this year has been finding a receiver that could hang on to his fireballs.

The sharp boys around Mount real who set the prices are rating the Roughriders as 7 to 5 favorites to win the series. The Alouettes are favored to win the opener with a three-point margin.

Alouettes hopes Get Lift

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes' hopes received a shot in the arm today when it was announced that halfback Bob Cunningham would play in the Big Four playoff opener here tomorrow.

Cunningham has been one of the most potent Alouette ground-gainers this season.

"Cunningham will be ready but he may have to use sparingly in the opener," Coach Lew Hayman said.

The sharp boys around Mount real who set the prices are rating the Roughriders as 7 to 5 favorites to win the series. The Alouettes are favored to win the opener with a three-point margin.

Lethbridge Junior Ice Team Defeats Road-Weary Canucks

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Third place in the Western Canada Hockey League standings today is held by Lethbridge Native Sons who last night pinned a decisive 4 to 1 loss on the league-leading Moose Jaw Canucks.

Denny Smith paced the Lethbridge marksmen with two smart goals with Don Berry and Howie Milford getting the others. Hugu Cofflin bagged Moose Jaw's lone point in the first minute of play in the opening period.

Victory left the Sons trailing the second-place Calgary Buffaloes by four points and holding a three-point advantage over Regina.

Lethbridge salted the game away with a pair of second period goals after both teams had scored one in the opening period. The Sons added another in the third period for good measure.

A crowd of around 1,000 saw the Sons outskate the road-weary Canucks who were playing their fourth game in five nights against teams in the Alberta section of the loop.

HERMAN KEISER WINS

to victory over the opposition in league play and against Calgary in the playoff. Chahley scored nine of his team's points against Tornadoes on a touchdown and four conversions.

Saskatoon Hilltops move into the western final fresh from a double victory over Winnipeg Rods in the other western semifinal. The Saskatchewan representatives, who lost to Rods in interprovincial play last year, blasted the Winnipeg team 21 to 7 in a sea of mud at Winnipeg, then last Saturday made it two straight in the two-game, total-point series by winning 12 to 6, for a 20-point margin.

National Sports Forum Called For Ottawa In January

CALGARY (CP)—Round table conference of Canadian sport bodies, called by the National Council on Physical Fitness, will be held at Ottawa Jan. 7 and 8, it was announced here Monday night.

The meeting was called by J. H. Ross of Calgary, acting chairman of the N.C.P.F. The conference is planned to provide neutral ground on which sports groups can meet to discuss problems associated with joint sports efforts and to explore the possibility of further co-operation in promoting greater fitness through more participation in sports.

Ross emphasized that no move was afoot to institute government control of sport. He said N.C.P.F. has "no desire for, nor will it accept any responsibility for governing sport in Canada."

It is expected that practical steps towards securing better preparation and organization for Canadian participation in future international sports will be discussed.

Both amateur and professional groups have been invited to send representatives.

Mons Final Feather In Caps Of Canadians At War's End

Armistice Day, Monday, Nov. 11, 1918, was the day the Germans admitted defeat by the Allies. It was also the same day Canadian troops went over the top to capture Mons, scene of disaster for British troops in 1914.

In Victoria there are still veterans who remember that final day of the war. Days before, they were sure the Germans would admit defeat but there was still one more feather to go into the caps of the Canadian troops.

In the early hours of Nov. 11 the Canadians waited tensely for zero hour. Finally it came, and at daybreak they went over the top.

As some recall it now, it was a bright and frosty morning and the Canadians knew the end was only a short way away, but even at that final hour, there were still some men to die.

At last the Canadians had taken Mons where four years before the grey-clad soldiers of Germany had pushed through. And then came the 11th hour. The awful noise of war subsided. The big guns were quiet, the last few rattles of machine guns finally stilled and the crack of rifles stopped. Overhead, the skies were clear of the sight and sound of airplanes.

To the Canadians had gone the final honor of the war.

Behind the lines the church bells began to ring and the meaning of it suddenly swept over the troops. Celebration was the word of the day. Nearby residents opened their homes and their hearts to the soldiers. Precious food from parcels at home were taken and turned into feasts.

But it still wasn't all over for the Canadians. They still had one final task. It was the march to the Rhine. They made it and showed the Germans what their conquerors looked like and then turned homeward to pick up their lives where they had left off so long ago.

Executives of the B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce have announced that their Region 1 convention will be held in Prince Rupert during the first week of June next year. Units from all parts of British Columbia will be well represented and it is hoped there will be a good representation from United States chambers of the Pacific Northwest.

Safe-Crackers Net $69 From Garage

Proprietor Frank Ivings gathers up papers strewn about floor by thieves who cracked the office strongbox during the night. In one hand he holds the knocked-off dial.

Thieves who broke into Frank Ivings' garage at 1401 Blanshard Street during the night cracked the metal safe in the office and got away with $69.01 in cash, city detectives reported this morning.

This was the first safe robbery in the city since police rounded up a gang of young men and juveniles responsible for several cases where safes were carted out of the city and broken open in the country last spring. Det. Sgt. Henry Jarvis and Detectives John Lund and David

Donaldson have started investigations. Det. Donaldson has taken fingerprints. Entry was gained by removing the glass from a skylight. The dial on the strongbox in the office was knocked off and the tumblers punched back.

Employees arrived for work this morning and found that papers in the safe had been left scattered about the office.

G. L. Carter, proprietor of Individual Dry Cleaners, 1536 Fort Street, reported to city police this morning that he had been unable to determine whether anything was taken by the persons who broke into the premises before midnight. A side door was forced. Constable Norman Galbraith, on his checking rounds at 11.12, reported the entry.

Thief Who Got 2 Months In Jail Caught In The Act

At 11.45 this morning Constable William Andrews of the city police caught a man in the act of robbing a car. In court this morning the man was given a two-month sentence in Oakalla. The accused was Charles Bland, who pleaded guilty to theft of a pair of sun glasses, a flashlight, one box of .22-calibre cartridges and a package of cigarettes from a car owned by Clifford B. Hutchinson.

Constable Andrews said he was on patrol duty on Johnson Street between Douglas and Blanshard Streets at 11.45 when he became suspicious of accused who had just started to walk away from a car parked west of Odeon Theatre.

"I investigated, saw that the car door was hanging ajar, took after accused and caught him," the officer said. On accused he found the things displayed in court, which Mr. Hutchinson claimed as his property.

Bland was given the sentence by Magistrate H. C. Hall after C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, had read off his record sheet.

Early Morning Sky Too Cloudy To See Spectacular Comet

Citizens who rose in the bleak hour before dawn this morning to see the new comet which is streaking across the southeastern sky were disappointed—it was too cloudy.

Dr. Andrew McKellar of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Little Saanich Mountain, was among the early risers, but reported he was unable to spot the new comet, described as the most beautiful since Halley's Comet, which was last seen in 1910.

The comet, with a long tail covering about 20 degrees of the sky, can be seen with the naked eye. It was first noticed in South Africa on Sunday, and has since been seen by observers in Argentina, Mexico, Australia and the United States.

Dr. K. O. Wright of Little Saanich observatory said today that the chances of seeing the comet were likely diminishing, since it is believed to be getting closer to the sun. That is, at the time it is within sight of the earth, the sun's early light will be too bright to allow the comet to be seen.

If visible, however, it will be seen close to the southeast horizon.

Dr. Wright states that he has received no further information on the comet since the first communication from the Harvard observatory.

Contest In Ward 4 For Council Seat

At least one contest has been assured for a seat on Saanich Council in the December elections.

Alexander Kilpatrick, 3851 Lancaster Road, secretary-treasurer of Ward 4 Ratepayers' Association, will run against Councillor E. C. Cummins for the council seat in that ward.

Mr. Kilpatrick is a two-war veteran. He urges all ratepayers to attend the ward meeting next Monday night at Marigold Hall. Reeve E. C. Warren and the council have been invited to attend.

To date no other new candidates have stated their intention to run for a council member's seat. There will be no contest for the reevehip, Reeve Warren having one year of his term left.

Chinese Motorist Gets $75 In Fines

George Eng, Chinese motorist, was fined a total of $75 and had his license suspended for one month for three traffic violations on Nov. 7 when he appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

For dangerous driving at the intersection of Rock Bay Avenue and John Street, where the vehicle, according to Constable Donald Bule, skidded for 76 feet on the road, climbed the curb and onto the sidewalk to endanger the lives of four Hindu girls playing there, accused was fined $40 and he got the suspension on this.

For having inadequate brakes he was fined $25 and for no muffler on his exhaust the levy was $10. Alternative to failure to pay was 14 days in jail.

Legislation To Prevent Impasse In Civic Negotiations Studied

Legal and labor advisers to the provincial government are studying proposed legislation which would make it mandatory for municipalities to grant arbitration board findings in wages and hours disputes with certain civic employees.

The need of some change in the existing legislation is indicated to these advisers by the current impasse in negotiations of the Victoria police and the City Council. The legislation is proposed for just those employees who, by the nature of their work, would threaten the health and welfare of citizens if they resorted to strike.

In the current dispute of the Victoria City Police Federal Union Local 251, negotiating agent for the employees, and the city submitted their differences to arbitration but following the submission of the report the city council, claiming it has not the funds, has refused to implement the findings.

The suggestion is that legislation would require that disputes involving policemen and firemen and perhaps others who are not in a position to strike should be required to go to arbitration which would be binding on both parties. It is also suggested that the municipal councils would be required by law to implement the findings of such an arbitration board in the first budget following the handing down of the award.

Legislation of this nature has been asked of the provincial government for some time by the fire fighters' union. The union's constitution prohibits members from striking under any circumstances.

Under the present laws policemen and firemen, because it is felt the public would not tolerate a strike, do not possess the same position in negotiating which other employees do.

Pedestrian Hit By Car, In Hospital

C. B. Bateman, 60, of 1902 Fort Street, was taken to Jubilee Hospital and treated for head injuries Tuesday evening when city police said he was struck by a car driven east on Fort Street at Foul Bay Road, by Kenneth L. Shapland, 2050 Marston Street.

Police said Bateman had apparently stepped out to the roadway from behind the southeast corner telephone pole when the collision occurred.

English Boy Proves Ambassador Through Stamp Collection

LANGFORD—Proving himself a young ambassador of Canada is 14-year-old Philip Gilbert, a student now at Dulwich College, who spent five years in Langford during the war and who, to keep himself in constant touch with Canada, has formed a specialized collection of the postage stamps and postal history of the Dominion.

Philip made his home with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bayles at Langford and his elder brother Richard is still at Langford. In November, 1947, Philip entered his collection of Canadian stamps for the junior collector's cup, organized by the British Philatelic Association and was awarded second prize. A selection of the pages of his album were shown in the wall frames at the Philatelic Exhibition held at the Imperial Institute in Kensington.

The award was presented to him by Col. Rowland Hill, grandson of the famous Rowland Hill who was responsible for the introduction of the first postage stamps in the world, the line engraved "Penny Blacks" in 1840. In June of this year Philip addressed the Postal History Society, marking the first time a boy had been invited to speak to the group. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wellburn of Duncan.

Permit Hotel With Two Fireproof Walls

PORT ALBERT—City Council here agreed to relax its building and fire code to permit Thor M. Peterson, contractor, to erect an hotel with fireproof walls on two sides instead of four.

According to Mr. Peterson, two of the proposed walls would face on wide streets. Council instructed the city solicitor to draw up the agreement. Action was taken by the council over reports by both the fire chief and building inspector, which the council agreed were correct according to the building code, but councillors felt that something should be done to enable the contractor to proceed in view of expenses involved. The hotel was originally started by Pacific Hotel Ltd., which was unable to proceed.

Donald E. Smith Named New Head Of Kiwanis Club

... new president.

Donald E. Smith, 2665 Dewdney Avenue, was elected president of the Victoria Kiwanis Club by acclamation at the annual general meeting at the Empress Hotel Tuesday.

The offices of vice-president and secretary-treasurer were also filled by acclamation, Robert W. Hibbertson was elected to the former post and F. Glenn Hope was returned to the latter.

Seven directors for the coming year were elected following campaigns by the managers of 10 candidates.

Elected to the directorate were Martin Cave, Eric Day, Reg. Harris, Jim Hardy, Norman Ingledew, Sam Keeble and Claude Prutton.

Retiring president, Andrew M. Stewart, gave a brief summary of the year's activities, commending the co-operation and spirit shown by members in the service work of the club.

A sound financial condition was reported by F. Glenn Hope in presenting the treasurer's report. Although final figures are not available, and while all projects were not financially successful, he said the final tabulation should find the year-end balance in the black.

COBBLE HILL—Residents of the Cobble Hill school attendance area, at their annual meeting here approved a motion that a new plebiscite be submitted to ratepayers if any change is contemplated in the original plans contained in the building by-law passed in Cowichan School District No. 65 last January. G. E. Bonner was re-elected representative. A. T. Motherwell was appointed second representative with the approval of school inspectors.

Of 100 Movie Stars, 21 Came From Points Outside Of U.S.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Do you want to be a movie star? Well, it might help if you hailed from New York.

And were born in May. And had brown hair and stage experience.

These are some more conclusions from a survey of the "golden 100" top stars in Hollywood.

New York State is far ahead in the number of stars it has donated to the screen—19 out of the 79 born in the United States. Tagging along are California, Pennsylvania and Missouri with five apiece, Texas and Nebraska with four.

Twenty-one of the stars are from outside the United States—eight being from the British Isles, four from Canada and the rest scattered.

Horoscopes may find some reason why so many film stars were born in May—14 of them. Closest months are August with 12 and September with 10. The stage is still the best source for top film talent. Of the hundred, 77 have had footlight training. Fourteen had no previous acting experience and five came from the music field. Two apiece came from sports (Esther Williams, Sonja Henie) and radio (Gene Autry, Roy Rogers).

30 USE STAGE NAMES Only 70 use the names they were born with. A third of the stars came from hamlets, two-thirds from cities.

The average female star is five feet four and a half inches tall and weighs 116 pounds. Top gal is Lauren Bacall at five feet eight; June Allyson and Ann Southern tie for shortest at five feet one.

The average male star is a fraction under six feet tall and weighs in at 172. Tip-topper is Dan Dailey at six feet four; low man in the glamour roll is Mickey Rooney with a rugged five feet two.

Brown hair is the most popular among the stars, although this is a category that fluctuates more than the others. As we went to press, there were 19 brown-haired gals in the top 50, 16 blondes, 11 redheads and four with black hair.

Brown-haired males are even more prominent. There are 38 of 'em. Blondes total a mere four, redheads two, black-haired two. The remaining four are hard to classify; they're the toupee boys.

CRUSADE IN EUROPE

Operation 'Torch' Takes Place Of Brittany Assault

by Dwight D. Eisenhower

This is a condensed serialization of Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe." It contains highlights of the book to be published November 22, 1948, by Doubleday & Company. Copyrighted by Doubleday & Company, Inc.

Very shortly after General Marshall returned from the April conference in London he called me to his office. He said that during his visit he had found little chance to look over American activity but had become concerned because American officers on duty in London were not familiar with the broader problems and objectives of the War Department.

Marshall directed me to visit London to see what I could do about correcting this situation and to bring back recommendations involving future organization and development of our European forces.

On June 8, I submitted to the Chief of Staff a draft of a "Directive for the Commanding General, European Theatre of Operations," which provided for unified command of all American forces allocated to the European area. I remarked to Gen. Marshall that this was one paper he should read in detail before it went out because it was likely to be an important document in the further waging of the war.

His reply still lives in my memory: "I certainly do want to read it. You may be the man who executes it. If that's the case, when can you leave?"

Three days later Gen. Marshall told me definitely that I would command the European theatre.

Naturally I have often wondered what led to that particular and apparently sudden decision. Gen. Marshall has never volunteered a word but of course I did realize that it was sudden only to me; he had thought the matter over carefully.

Responsibility Erases Personal Elation

The transfer from staff to command duty would have been welcomed by any soldier; but the weight of responsibility involved was so great as to obliterate any thought of personal elation and so critical as to compel complete absorption in the job at hand. In any event, the unexpected orders started me on a hurried round of preparation, most of which involved the transfer of War Department duties to my successor, Gen. Handy.

A call on President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, a guest at the White House, was no more than an informal chat. It had no military significance, but it was the first time I ever had a personal talk with either of these two men. To-bruk, in the African desert, had just fallen to the Germans and the whole Allied world was thrown into gloom. These two leaders, however, showed no signs of pessimism. It was gratifying to note that they were thinking of attack and victory, not of defence and defeat.

Gen. Clark and I, with a few assistants, left Washington in June, 1942. This time the parting from my family seemed particularly difficult although it was, in sense, a mere repetition of previous instances covering many years. Our son came down from West Point; he, my wife, and I had two days together, and then I left.

In late June, 1942, the press of the United States and Great Britain was echoing the Russian cry for a "second front." To the professional soldier this was disturbing, not because of any quarrel with the soundness of the idea, but because the impatience of the public clearly demonstrated a complete lack of appreciation of the problems involved, particularly of the time that must elapse before any such operation could be launched.

Bedell Smith Made 'Ike's' Chief Of Staff

My first job was to collect and organize a working team. Gen. Marshall approved my request for Brig.-Gen. Walter B. Smith as my chief of staff. He was a godsend—a master of detail with clear comprehension of main issues. Serious, hard-working, and loyal, he proved equally as capable in difficult conference as he was in professional activity. Strong in character and abrupt by instinct, he could achieve harmony without appeasement, and earned for himself an enviable standing throughout the armies and governments of Europe. He reached London on Sept. 7, and there began a personal friendship and official association which lasted throughout the war.

The organizational plan for air was pressing in point of time. We intended to participate as quickly as possible in the bombing campaign against Germany. The Eighth Air Force was allocated to our theatre, with Gen. Spaatz assigned to me as its commander.

From the time of his arrival at London in July he was never long absent from my side until the last victorious shot had been fired in Europe. On every succeeding day of almost three years of active war I had new reasons for thanking the gods of war and the War Department for giving me "Toey" Spaatz. He shunned the limelight and was so modest and retiring that the public probably never became fully cognizant of his value.

All these preliminary organizational tasks were normal to such enterprises. They had been anticipated and therefore were soon disposed of, so far as immediate needs were concerned. Another task for which we had to organize very specifically was almost unique in character. It involved the fitting of our training, building, and organizational activities into British life.

2,000,000 Americans Invade Britain

The plan to bring large fighting forces to Great Britain required those highly populated islands to ready themselves for the absorption of 2,000,000 Americans and to provide for them necessary facilities, including training grounds, in which to prepare for the great invasion. England's insufficiency in food supplies had already led to a program of placing even sub-marginal ground under intensive cultivation, while, to save fuel and power, all unnecessary transportation and power facilities had been eliminated. Our friendly invasion would vastly increase the strain on the population.

The whole of the British Isles is only slightly larger than Colorado. Certain portions were either unusable or unsuited to our purpose. Southern Ireland was neutral, while Scotland was short of suitable areas for training. Almost the entire burden was thrown onto the crowded sections of middle and southern England, with some troops stationed in North Ireland.

We had to expect inevitable clashes with civilian processes, and in spite of the best will in the world on both sides, we had to anticipate, and do our best to prevent, mutual irritations that would naturally lead to misunderstandings and could not fail to impede the war effort.

Fortunately all this was foreseen and discussed frankly with the leaders of the British war effort. Our principal collaborator was Brendan Bracken, head of the Ministry of Information. He seemed to be as controversial a figure in British life as Harry Hopkins was in ours, but he was always helpful to us and, equally important, he was decisive and energetic.

He had another characteristic particularly noticeable among a people normally regarded as conservative and correct. Until I met him I had always regarded the American compunctious as the world's greatest master of picturesque expression. The effect of Bracken's language was always heightened by the rasping intensity of his voice.

Churchill Maintains Close Contact

During the war Mr. Churchill maintained such close contact with all operations as to make him a virtual member of the British Chiefs of Staff; I can not remember any major discussion with them in which he did not participate.

An inspirational leader, he seemed to typify Britain's courage and perseverance in adversity and its conservatism in success. He was a man of extraordinarily strong convictions and a master in argument and debate. Completely devoted to winning the war and discharging his responsibility as Prime Minister of

Great Britain, he was difficult indeed to combat when conviction compelled disagreement with his views.

In most cases problems were solved on a basis of almost instant agreement, but intermittently important issues arose where this was far from true. He could become intensely oratorical, even in discussion with a single person, but at the same time his intensity of purpose made his delivery seem natural and appropriate. He used humor and pathos with equal facility, and drew on everything from the Greek classics to Donald Duck for quotation, cliché and forceful slang to support his position.

Coupled with our organizational and preparatory program was the task of developing an operational plan to carry out the agreed-upon strategic concepts of the two governments. At that time Gen. Sir Bernard Paget was commanding the Home Forces of Great Britain, from which would have to come the British contingent of the invading army. His troops included a number of Canadian divisions serving under the command of Gen. Andrew McNaughton.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas was designated as the commander for the British Expeditionary Air Forces. Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay was named to head British naval forces. It was in co-operation with these men that the original work of developing an European invasion plan was undertaken by United States headquarters.

European Assault Considered For 1943

At the time of my first visit to London, in May, no detailed study of tactical plans for an invasion of the coast line of northwestern Europe had been made. Requirements in troops, airplanes, supplies, and equipment were all yet to be determined. In general terms I was thinking of an assault to be launched early in 1943, conducted during its initial stages by possibly ten or twelve American divisions.

With these general ideas in mind but with no detailed studies upon which to make a firm conclusion, I went to an informal meeting with the British Chiefs of Staff. Shortly after the conference began I was invited to present my general views concerning the nature of the projected operation.

Speaking as an American planner assigned to the War Department in Washington, and with no idea that I would later be assigned to Britain, I said in substance, "The first thing to do is to name a commander for the operation. That man must be given every bit of power that both governments can make available to him. He must be directed to plan for an invasion of Europe on the basis that it will certainly be successful, at least to the extent of establishing on the Continent a solid front capable of carrying out effective operations against the German. He must be directed instantly to prepare his outlined plan and to submit to the Chiefs of Staff his requirements not only in troops of all kinds, but in all types of additional equipment—land, sea and air."

The first question asked me was, "And who would you name as commander of this expedition?"

Still thinking of an operation in early 1943, when the British would necessarily provide the major portion of the forces during initial stages, I replied, "In America I have heard much of a man who has been intensively studying amphibious operations for many months. I understand that his position is Chief of Combined Operations, and I think his name is Admiral Mountbatten. Anyone will be better than none; such an operation cannot be carried out under committee command. But I have heard that Admiral Mountbatten is vigorous, intelligent, and courageous, and if the operation is to be staged initially with British forces predominating I assume he could do the job."

My remarks were greeted with an amazed silence. Then Gen. Brooke said, "General, possibly you have not met Admiral Mountbatten. This is he sitting directly across the table from you."

LORD MOUNTBATTEN

The President had specifically ordered the United States Chiefs of Staff to launch some kind of offensive ground action in the European zone in 1942.

Three Lines Of Action For Earnest Study

In view of these circumstances there seemed to be three lines of action deserving of earnest study.

The first was the direct reinforcement of the British armies in the Middle East via the Cape of Good Hope route, in an effort to destroy Rommel and his army and, by capturing Tripolitania, to gain secure control of the central Mediterranean.

The second was to prepare amphibious forces to seize northwest Africa with the idea of undertaking later operations to the eastward to catch Rommel in a giant vise and eventually open the entire Mediterranean for use by the United Nations.

The third was to undertake a limited operation on the northwest coast of France with a relatively small force but with objectives limited to the capture of an area that could be held against German attack and which would later form a bridgehead for use in the large-scale invasion agreed upon as the ultimate objective. The places indicated were the Cotentin Peninsula or the Brittany Peninsula. This proposed operation was called Sledgehammer.

No other course of action seemed feasible at the moment. The discussions were long and exhaustive. A major factor in all American thinking of that time was a lively suspicion that the British contemplated the agreed-upon cross-Channel concept with distaste and with considerable mental reservations concerning the practicability of ever conducting a major invasion of northwest Europe. So, though we could not plead for a do-nothing policy while all the impedimenta of major invasion were being produced and accumulated, we looked askance on any project that seemed to be an effort to lead us to indefinite commitment to a strategy in which we did not believe.

I was well aware of sincere British misgivings—often voiced in a general way by Mr. Churchill, but definitely and specifically by Gen. Paget—concerning the major cross-Channel venture, then known as Round-up. Gen. Marshall heartily agreed that, no matter what decision should be reached by the London Conference then in progress, we must secure from the British unequivocal reaffirmation of the cross-Channel strategy.

Influenced by these considerations, I personally favored, at that time, the third course of action; that is, the attempt to seize a small bridgehead on the northwest coast of France. However, I told Gen. Marshall that the project was a hazardous one and that my only real reason for favoring it was the fear of becoming so deeply involved elsewhere that the major cross-Channel attack would be indefinitely postponed, possibly even canceled.

Later developments have convinced me that those who held the Sledgehammer operation to be unwise at the moment were correct in their evaluation of the problem. Our limited-range fighter craft of 1942 could not have provided sufficiently effective air cover over the Cotentin or Brittany peninsulas, against the German air strength as it then existed. At least, the operation would have been very costly.

Another reason is that out of the northwest African operation flowed benefits to the Allied nations that were felt all through the war and materially helped to achieve the great victory when the invasion actually took place in 1944. Only meager advantages would have followed the capture of Cherbourg; the desirable features of that project were merely that it would have initiated a small "second front" at once and would have launched our first offensive effort in the direction and along the same line that would later be taken by our full-out assault.

On July 24 it was determined to proceed with the planning for the invasion of northwest Africa with an Allied force of all arms, to be carried out under an American commander. The operation received the name Torch. Its execution was approved by the President on July 25. Both governments agreed that the whole venture should have, initially at least, a completely American complexion.

The hope was that French North Africa would receive the invading troops with no more than a nominal show of resistance, and the chances of this favorable development were considered to be much brighter if the operation was advertised as purely American. British standing in France was at a low ebb because of the Oran, Dakar, and Syrian incidents, in which British forces had come into open conflict with the French.

In his headquarters in the Claridge Hotel on July 26, Gen. Marshall informed me that I was to be the Allied commander in

Wanted Own Way But If He Lost He Backed Eisenhower

"I admired him and liked him," says General Eisenhower when describing his feelings towards Winston Churchill in his story "Crusade in Europe."

WINSTON CHURCHILL returned again and again to attack.

"He knew this perfectly well and never hesitated to use that knowledge in his effort to swing me to his own line of thought in any argument. Yet in spite of his strength of purpose, in those instances where we found our convictions in direct opposition, he never once lost his friendly attitude toward me when I persisted in my own course, nor did he fail to respect with meticulous care the position I occupied as the senior American officer and, later, the Allied commander in Europe."

"He was a keen student of the war's developments and of military history, and discussion with him, even on purely professional grounds, was never profitless. If he accepted a decision unwillingly he would return again and again to the attack in an effort to have his own way, up to the very moment of execution. But once action was started he had a faculty for forgetting everything in his desire to get ahead, and invariably tried to provide British support in a greater degree than promised."

chief of the expedition. In August the appointment as commander in chief was made official in a directive from the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

The preparation for "Torch," the Allied invasion of North Africa, filled the summer of 1942. Alternative plans were debated between London and Washington, while Gen. de Gaulle and his Free French followers were kept—necessarily and successfully—in the dark about the plan.

It was the one time in the entire war, Gen. Eisenhower writes in tomorrow's installment of "Crusade in Europe," when one of his operational plans was changed by higher authority. The Victoria Times will publish here tomorrow his reasons for preferring, initially, to take his entire Allied force inside the Mediterranean, by-passing Casablanca, and his reasons for subsequently accepting the political decision of the United States Chiefs of Staff.

City Hall To Be Headquarters For United Emergency Fund

The City Hall will be collection headquarters for Greater Victoria subscriptions to the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

This was announced Tuesday by Brig. W. K. G. Colquhoun, local chairman of the fund, following a meeting with Acting Mayor Ed. Williams.

Acting Mayor Williams promised full co-operation from the city in the work of the fund committee, and made available immediately facilities for the collection of subscriptions.

Brig. Colquhoun pointed out the U.E.F.B., for which a three weeks' drive for subscriptions will start Nov. 15, was formed to collect money across the Dominion to purchase food for the needy in Britain.

The food is shipped in bulk, saving postage, and freight bills are paid by the British government. On arrival in England, the food is set out in balanced parcels under direction of a committee of women headed by Princess Alice.

The parcels go to families of the class assisted by the Mayor's Fund before it was disbanded in favor of the U.E.F.B., the brigadier stated.

He said Victoria citizens will be given credit for their subscriptions. Cards saying the parcels were gifts from Victoria, B.C., will be sent with them to needy people.

"We hope the same support will be given this fund, during the drive and throughout the year, as the citizens gave to the Mayor's Fund," Brig. Colquhoun said.

Vice-chairman of the committee in charge is Mrs. F. E. Dowdall who was one of the chief workers in the Mayor's Fund. Secretary is Mrs. William Blair and treasurer, G. H. Stevens. Mrs. H. E. Wilson is a member of the committee and two others will be named shortly.

Charge On Wages Dismissed In Court

A charge laid by the provincial labor department against William J. Gawne, 1120 Fort Street, of failing to pay an employee the minimum rate of pay set under B.C. minimum wage orders, was quickly dismissed in city police court Tuesday by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Dismissal came after the em-

12½% Boost Urged For Cannery Workers

A conciliation board hearing a dispute between Canadian Cannery (Western) Ltd. and the United Packing House Workers of America Local 350, representing employees of the company's Lulu Island plant, in a majority report Tuesday recommended a wage increase of 12½ per cent.

The majority report was made by the board chairman, Joseph A. Crumb, and Herbert Gargrave, representing the employees. Russell Stevens, nominee of the company, dissented.

The union has asked for a boost of 25 cents per hour. In making the award the majority decision said that it was based on the continued rise in the cost of living, the "too great disparity between packinghouse and other classes of workers" and that "the company can absorb the cost of the increase without passing it on to the consumer."

The board unanimously rejected the union's demand for a reduction in work hours.

Employee, Robert Warren, Hut 5 of Gordon Head Camp, a motorcycle repair man, replied to much he was paid on either the hourly basis or otherwise.

Students Try To Break Into Lord Mayor's Parade

LONDON (CP) — Demonstrators with a red banner and medical students with a cardboard elephant tried to break into the Lord Mayor's Day parade Tuesday in two separate incidents. In each case they were frustrated.

The demonstrators attempted to form up behind marching Guardsmen as the parade turned into Northumberland Street. They carried political slogans. Mounted police quickly drove them back. Fourteen of the demonstrators, believed to be Communists, were arrested.

A mile away in Cheapside, 100 medical students from St. Bartholomew's Hospital tried to horn in on the parade with their five-foot high cardboard elephant, named Percy.

They engaged in a fracas with police before they were dispersed. Thirteen of the students were arrested.

The students said they wanted to join the procession because the new Lord Mayor, Sir George Aylwen, is chairman of the hospital. Almost 100,000 Londoners watched the one-and-a-half-mile-long procession, devoted to stimulating the drive for volunteers for Britain's reserve forces. The parade is held annually when the new Lord Mayor assumes his duties.

Sir George, wealthy 67-year-old stockbroker, rode at the end of the procession in the city's gold-encrusted coach, escorted by a troop of the Household Cavalry in gleaming breastplates and nodding plumes.

Red Dean Speaks At McGill; Wires Of Loudspeakers Cut

MONTREAL (CP) — Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, was sabotaged here Tuesday night as he spoke to members of the McGill University Student Christian Movement — somebody had cut the loudspeaker wires before his arrival.

As the S.C.M. has no large assembly room, students had rigged up a system of loudspeakers so the group could listen in rooms and halls on each floor. Only those on the main floor could hear Dr. Johnson as he told students that discussions for lasting peace would ultimately begin on the basis of the six points made by Henry Wallace, unsuccessful candidate for the United States presidency.

The Dean warned that the situation in this "crisis" was different than at the time of Munich.

"Those who opposed war at any price then are those who want war now."

Dean Johnson said he felt "a dash of spice of illegality" about the night's meeting.

"It could be that I am addressing a body of very valiant McGill rebels."

He said that in a recent interview with Marshal Tito, the Yugoslav leader had told him Soviet Russia "had a secret weapon more powerful than the atomic bomb."

The Anglican clergyman will speak here again tonight and Thursday night. His speech to-night is scheduled for the Church of St. John the Divine. An earlier request for use of the Montreal High School auditorium was refused.

Navy To Test Defences Against Atomic Bombs

LONDON (CP) — The Royal Navy's defences against atomic bombs will be tested in exercises off the south coast when the Home Fleet returns from a cruise to South Africa and the West Indies early in December.

Bombs which produce a brilliant flash on explosion will simulate an atomic attack. Referees of the mock battle will assume the bombs are destructive over a wide area of the sea.

The special problem of the war games will be to determine whether a power with a strong air force and many submarines can effectively defend itself against strong maritime power.

The admiralty said it will be strictly a "no-holds-barred" affair.

All modern weapons will be used. Great quantities of blank ammunition and torpedoes fitted with practice heads will be provided.

Discuss Food Plans

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner will head the Canadian delegation to the general conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization opening in Washington Nov. 15, it was announced Tuesday.

Farm stock diseases cost Britain £60,000,000 ($240,000,000) a year, the Duke of Norfolk told an animal health meeting.

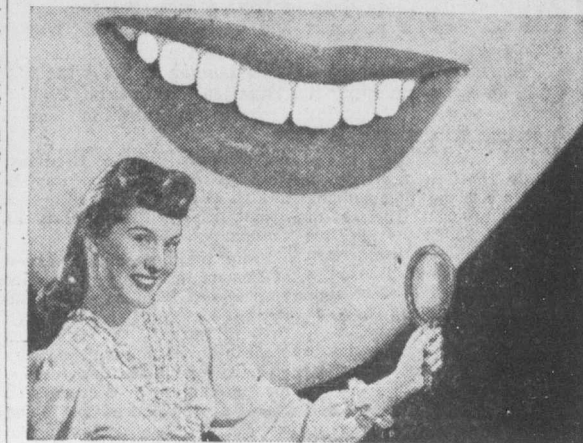

Special research is being made into the effect of automobile radios on road safety. Dr. W. H. Glanville, director of Britain's Road Research Laboratory, said there were two views: one that radios relieved driving strain; the other that they were a distraction.

Only Pepsodent Tooth Powder makes this promise...

DENTAL WHITENESS FOR YOUR TEETH!

How white—how bright—how film-free your teeth are after your dentist cleans them! That's real dental whiteness and it relies on powder. For unless dull, dingy film is removed, it hardens—darkens—turns into harmful, ugly tartar.

Pepsodent Tooth Powder is especially made with Irium to remove that trouble-causing film gently but thoroughly—right in your own home! For teeth of dental whiteness change to Pepsodent Tooth Powder today.

The difference is IRIUM—and PEPSEMENT IS THE ONLY TOOTH POWDER CONTAINING IRIUM

Procter & Gamble's new TIDE makes washday's most AMAZING PROMISE

No soap — no other "suds" — no other washing product known — will get your family wash as CLEAN as Tide!

World's CLEANEST wash!

Tide promises you a cleaner wash than you ever had before. A cleaner wash than any soap or any other washday product will give you. Tide leaves even your heaviest wash free from dirt... and actually removes dingy soap film, too. There's nothing like Tide.

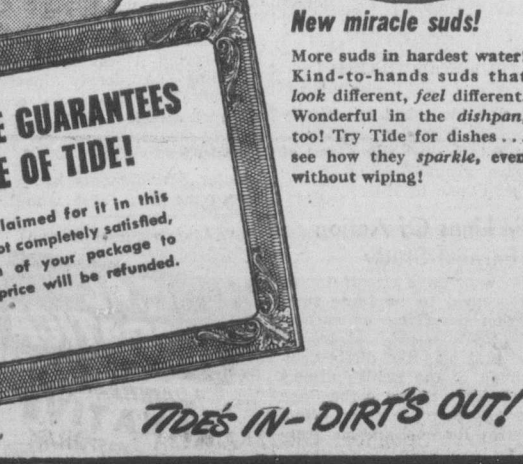

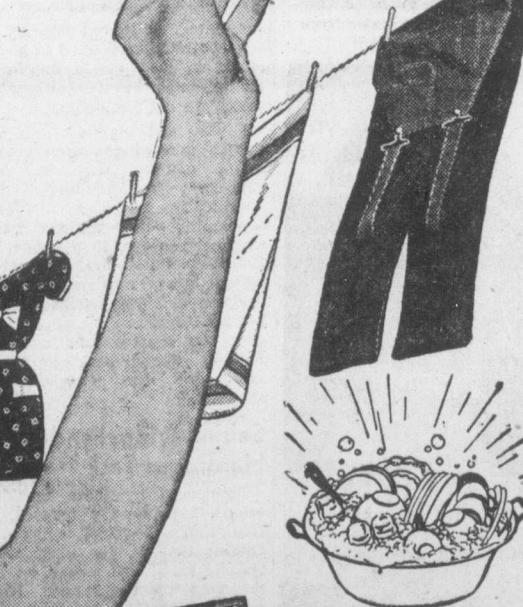

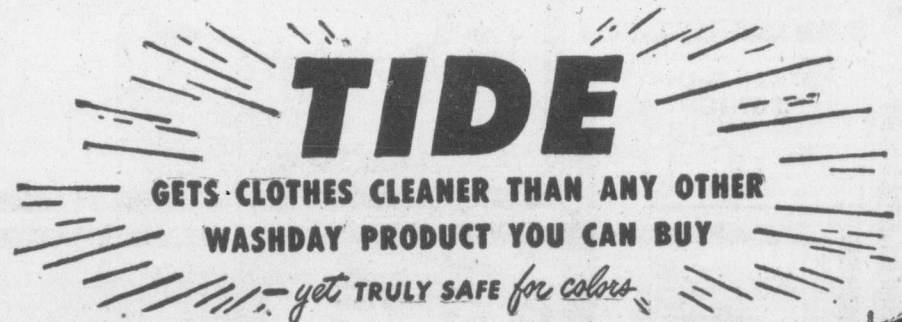

Actually BRIGHTENS colors!

Forgotten how bright your wash prints really are under that mask of dulling soap film? Let Tide show you! Colors perk up like magic as Tide removes soap film! And Tide does it safely. With all its unbeatable cleaning power, Tide's truly safe for all washables.

World's WHITEST wash!

Your neighbor's eyes will pop when you hang out your first Tide wash! Why, washed in hardest water, your white things will be whiter than hers—no matter what other washing product she may use. Tide—and only Tide—can make all these terrific promises!

TIDE WORKS EXTRA MIRACLES IN HARD WATER! OCEANS OF SUDS! NO WATER SOFTENERS NEEDED!

Male Movie Stars' Average Age 40.7; Women 32.4 Years

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—So you think being a movie star is a young person's job?

Would it surprise you to learn that the average age of top male stars is 40 years?

And for women—32 years?
Those are two of the startling facts uncovered in a survey of the 100 top stars in United States movies.

The matter of ages is a big eye-opener. The male average of 40.7 and the female of 32.4 years may cause some contraversy about whether the screen is giving youth sufficient opportunity. Of course, it can be argued that some of the younger players have not reached star status, and it takes time.

Oldest male star is Wallace
Beery, 59, and youngest is Mickey Rooney, a mere stripling of 28.

Marlene Dietrich, the world's most glamorous grandma, is the eldest of the ladies at 44. Film veteran Shirley Temple ranks youngest at 20.

1,341 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

The hundred stars have served a total of 1,341 years before the cameras. Male stars have averaged 14.4 years in the movies, the women 11 years. It should be noted that some of them worked here several years before reaching stardom. The highs and lows:

Myrna Loy and Joan Crawford, 23 years apiece; Elizabeth
Scott, four; Wallace Beery, 35 years; Burt Lancaster, three.
The survey may help to explode notions about the multiple marriages of stars. The 50 women have been wed 75 times for an average of 1.5 apiece (if you can picture that). Bringing up the average are Bette Davis, Lana Turner and Joann Bennett with three apiece. Lone spinster is Liz Scott.

The men have married less—a 1.4 average. Bogart, Gable and Dick and William Powell are the three-time husbands. James Stewart is the only one who has never been induced to trek to the altar.

Here's an arresting note—17 of the female stars have had no children, five more have adopted theirs. The average is exactly one child a woman. Joan Bennett leads with four.

The men are more prolific. The 50 have 84 children.

of "B.F.'s Daughter," filmization of the John P. Marquand bestseller novel. It is the 165th picture to be directed by Leonard who was a film star before taking over the cameras. The new
M-G-M hit, which is now on the Atlas screen, has an all-star cast, including Barbara Stanwyck, Van Heflin, Charles Coburn, Richard
Hart and Keenan Wynn.

YORK THEATRE

An exhaustive inquiry into the anguished emotions of a woman rejected by the man she loves furnishes the exciting thematic fabric of Warner Bros. "Possessed," now at the York Theatre.
Joan Crawford and Van Heflin, in co-stellar roles, head the cast of the Jerry Wald production which follows faithfully in the distinguished tradition of its two illustrious predecessors, "Mildred Pierce" and "Humoresque."

Plaza Puts On Midnight Show

Enterprise Studios rounded up 50,000 feet of film, representing most of the championship fights since the Dempsey-Carpentier title bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City in 1921 for review by John Garfield, Robert Rossen and Bob Roberts, star, director and producer respectively of United Artists' "Body and Soul," which is being presented at midnight tonight at the Plaza Theatre.

The trio spent several hours a day in a projection room so that Garfield, who had never portrayed a boxer before, could develop an individualistic fistic style yet one which could have won titles.

"Body and Soul" is the fourth film Enterprise has made since its inception one year ago. The first two, already released, were "Ramrod" and "The Other Love," both distinctive in their fields.
And the fourth, as yet unseen, is the long, heralded "Arch of Triumph."

PLAZA THEATRE

In "Valley of the Giants," adopted from Peter B. Kyne's novel of the same name, now being shown at the Plaza Theatre, Wayne Morris plays the leading role, sharing honors in the story with Claire Trevor, with Charles Bickford, Alan Hale and Donald Crisp.

ODEON THEATRE

An artificial pine tree was constructed in Hollywood and shipped to Asheville, N.C., for special scenes in the Walter Wanger Technicolor production
"Tap Roots," a Universal-International release currently at the Odeon Theatre.

DOMINION THEATRE

Mike Curtiz, film director noted for his Curtizisms, was showing Jane Wyman how he wanted her to two-step across the platform while Cary Grant played the piano for a scene in Warner's Technicolor musical, "Night and Day," currently at the Dominion.
Frank Heath, assistant director, watched silently for a few minutes, then muttered incredulously:
"My gosh, Mike even dances with an accent!"

Alexis Smith is co-starred in the film opposite Grant while the featured cast also includes Monty Woolley, Ginny Simms and Mary Martin.

Slogan Saves Blandings' Job

Cary Grant, as the woe-begone
Mr. Blandings in RKO's happy comedy, "Mr. Blandings Builds
His Dream House," opening
Thursday at the Royal Theatre, saves his job, his newly-built home and his family's security by finding the right slogan for his advertising campaign. Blandings is an advertising man in the film, who must supply his office with new slogans for a ham called "Wham."

CAPITOL THEATRE

The fish in Florida's Biscayne
Bay must be wearing Ester Williams' swim suits!

Following a day's outdoor location for M-G-M's tropical Technicolor musical, "On An Island
With You," which is now at the Capitol Theatre, Miss Williams returned to the cruiser which served as her home and hung three of her bathing suits on the deck-to-dry. But a particular husky breeze came along and whipped the streamline suits into the deep.

Just then a school of porpoise swam by and took the suits with them, leaving Esther in a play suit but sans swimming togs.

Wood-Block Streets Of City Disappearing

The last of the city's wooden block streets are fast disappearing.

Workmen are tearing up a block of Fisgard Street between Government and Store Streets in Chinatown, and from there will move to the corresponding block of Herald Street.

Cyril Jones, acting city engineer, said today asphalt surfacing of the two blocks probably will be started next week.

When these sections are completed, only two blocks of wooden-block streets will be left, and they are to be reconstructed also, probably next year. They are the block of Yates Street between Douglas and Blanshard Streets, and a block of Humboldt Street between Government and Douglas Streets.

The brick-size crossroads blocks can be had for the asking by citizens who will take the responsibility of carting them away, Mr. Jones said. Some people use them as furnace fuel.

C. F. Dawson, district resident architect for British Columbia and Yukon Territory, Department Public Works, left today for various points in the Yukon Territory on departmental business. L. S. Wells, his assistant, will be leaving shortly for Akavik, N.W.T., also on departmental business.

Gains Made in Late Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied sharply late Wednesday after early attempts to rise had all but died out. Gains ranged to more than a point for many issues which had sunk to lows for the year or longer. It was hardly a one-way market, though, for a good-sized number of shares stayed in lower territory by fractions to as much as two points or more.

Dow Jones averages:
30 Industrials 173.48, off .46
20 rails 53.62, off .21
15 utilities 33.90, off .36
65 stocks 63.69, off .27
Total sales, 2,100,000.
